

The Exemplary Society

Human Improvement, Social Control,
and the Dangers of Modernity in China

BØRGE BAKKEN

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Figures	xiv
Tables	xv
Introduction	1

平 I: MEMORIES AND DREAMS OF SOCIAL ORDER

1	Memories: Construction and Structures of Tradition	17
	Economic growth and moral development	19
	Stability, change, and the construction of tradition	22
	Structures of traditionalism and neo-traditionalism	30
	The 'ultrastability' of Chinese culture	37
	Balance and the 'unstable equilibrium'	41
2	Dreams: Technocracy, Social Engineering, and 'Human Quality'	50
	Technocracy and the belief in scientism	51
	'Culturology' and 'spiritual civilization studies'	53
	'Human quality' as human modernization	59
	On 'fostering' the human body and population quality	66
	'Exemplary society': a utopia of reconstruction	72

教 II: EDUCATION, SOCIETY, AND MORALITY

3	Socialization, Moral Education, and 'Moral Science'	85
	Education, discipline, and socialization	87
	Morality, regularity, and constraint	96
	On limitlessness, self-restraint, and attachment to the group	101
	'Autonomy': an exercise in 'moral science'	110
	Socialization and the institutionalization of 'moral science'	114
4	The Educational Method: A Sociological Interpretation	127
	Imitation in Western and Chinese thought	128
	The social significance of repetition	141
	Memorizing power and the repetitive-imitative culture	148
	Elicitation or inculcation—education or politics?	151
	Moulding, environmentalism, and the imperceptible influence of education	156

5	On Models, Modelling, and the Exemplary	169
	The emulation and parading of models	171
	The moorings of models and modelling	179
	Administering the model image	183
	The devaluation of models	189
	The loss of charisma: models between myth and biography	194

 律

III: NORMS, DISCIPLINE, AND THE EXEMPLARY ORDER

211

6	Discipline and the Exemplary Norm	213
	On average and exemplary norms	214
	Dilemmas of the exemplary norm	220
	Reformalization and the micro penalty of discipline	229
	Opacity, visibility, and the exemplary	234
7	The Disciplinary Techniques of Evaluation	243
	Organizing the evaluation process	244
	On objective evaluation	254
	The bureaucratic logic of overmeasurement	265
	Evaluation, surveillance, and democracy	276
8	'Human Quality' Preserved in Files	287
	The personnel file	288
	The student file and its forerunners	292
	Bureaucracy and the art of 'knowing people'	297
	Modernizing files: the 'human quality' files	304

 流

IV: MODERNITY, DEVIANCE, AND DANGERS

315

9	Manifestations of Deviance and Modern Dangers	317
	'First times' and the chain narratives of danger	318
	Youth, movement, and modern dangers	325
	Insubordination, secret societies, and the social bond	333
	Preventing deviance and crime	341
10	'Never for the First Time': 'Premature Love' and Social Control	354
	The mounting crisis of 'premature love'	355
	'Premature love', 'human quality', and the wayward girl	359
	Controlling the wave of 'premature love'	363
	Cautionary tales, small beginnings, and 'first times'	366

11	Crime, Juvenile Delinquency, and Deterrence Policies	377
	The Chinese 'crime wave' in perspective	380
	Age and danger: does a youth boom mean a crime wave?	383
	Crime, mobility, and the new industrial revolution	387
	Deterrence policy and the failure of the 'severe blows' campaign	391

V: THEATRE AND SIMULATION

409

12	'Ways of Lying': Concluding Remarks on the Erosion of Control	411
	'Culture fever', social order, and the importance of overt form	413
	Identity, social theatre, and social stability	418
	Exemplarity: the culture and structures of simulation	421
	Disintegration from within and the threat of the Juggernaut	430
	Bibliography	443
	Select Glossary	485
	Index	499