Multichannel Integrations of Nonverbal Behavior

Edited by

Aron W. Siegman
Stanley Feldstein
University of Maryland Baltimore County
Contents

List of Contributors  xi
Prologue  xiii

1. Nonverbal Immediacy in Interpersonal Communication
   Peter A. Anderson

   Components of Nonverbal Immediacy  3
   Measurement of Nonverbal Immediacy  13
   Immediacy and Arousal  13
   Affiliative-Conflict Theory  17
   Expectancy Norm Theories  20
   Arousal-Labeling Theory  21
   Discrepancy-Arousal Theory  25
   Arousal-Valence Theory  27

2. Expressive Correlates of Affective States and Traits
   Aron Wolfe Siegman

   Expressive Correlates of Anxiety  37
   Expressive Correlates of Depression  48
   Expressive Correlates of Anger  52
   The Role of Anger and Hostility and Voice
      Stylistics in CHD  58
   Concluding Remarks  61

vii
3. Controlling the Floor in Conversation
   Joseph N. Cappella
   The Functions of Interpersonal Communication 71
   The Cue for Turn-Taking 83
   The Bases of Turn Regulation and Participation 89
   Conclusions and Implications 96

4. Nonverbal Cues in the Mediation of Interpersonal Expectancy Effects
   Robert Rosenthal
   Some Illustrative Examples 106
   The 10-Arrow Model 112
   Mediating Mechanisms 115
   Conclusion 125

5. Telling Lies: Verbal and Nonverbal Correlates of Deception
   Miron Zuckerman and Robert E. Driver
   The Leakage Hierarchy 129
   A Four-Factor Model of Behavioral Cues to Deception 130
   Empirical Findings—A Meta-analytic Approach 134
   Different Types of Lies: The Effects of Motivation and Planning 139
   Other Correlates of Deception 142
   Summary 144

6. Vocal Paralanguage Without Unconscious Processes
   Bruce L. Brown, C. Terry Warner, and Richard N. Williams
   Introduction 149
   Vocal Paralanguage Research: A Selective Survey with Proposals 153
   Troubles with the Unconscious 162
   Transparency Theory 168
   Applications of Transparency Theory to Paralinguistic Research 182
   Summary 188
7. Male and Female Nonverbal Behavior
   Judith A. Hall 195
   Methods Employed in This Review 197
   Summary of Sex Differences 199
   Conclusions 221

8. Race, Socioeconomic Status, and Nonverbal Behavior
   Amy G. Halberstadt 227
   Nonverbal Skill 229
   Nonverbal Behavior 235
   Summary 259

Author Index 267
Subject Index 279