

Magda Lauwers-Rech

Nazi Germany and the American Germanists

A Study of Periodicals,
1930–1946

PETER LANG

New York • Washington, D.C./Baltimore • San Francisco
Bern • Frankfurt am Main • Berlin • Vienna • Paris

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	1
PART I: REACTIONS TO NAZI POLITICS AND WORLD WAR II	11
CHAPTER I: 1930-1932	15
1. References to World War I and Its Aftermath	16
2. Nazism	19
CHAPTER II: 1933-1939	25
1. First Reactions to the Nazi Government: 1933-1934	25
2. Reactions to the Established Regime: 1935-1939 .	30
2.1 For and Against the Study of Nazism	30
2.2 Conspicuous Absence of Comments on Nazism .	36
2.3 Pro-Nazi Comments	37
2.4 Anti-Nazi Comments	40
2.5 Book Reviews Reflecting a Diversified Interest in Nazism	45
2.6 Criticizing Colleagues	46
2.7 Attitude of the Professional Organizations	49
CHAPTER III: 1940-1946	57
1. New Approaches to Understanding Germany	58
2. Fight Against Nazi Principles	62
3. Contribution to the War Effort	67
4. "After the War"	71
CONCLUSION	77

PART II: REACTIONS TO LITERATURE IN NAZI GERMANY .	81
CHAPTER IV: AMERICAN GERMANISTIC SURVEYS OF LITERATURE IN NAZI GERMANY	85
1. 1930–1932	85
2. 1933–1939	88
3. 1940–1946	106
4. Conclusion	116
CHAPTER V: AMERICAN GERMANISTS AND NAZI LITERARY CRITICISM	119
CONCLUSION	137
BIBLIOGRAPHICAL ESSAY	143
NOTES	151
WORKS CITED	197