

ON FUTURE WAR

Martin van Creveld

BRASSEY'S (UK)
(A Member of the Maxwell Macmillan Group)
LONDON . WASHINGTON . NEW YORK

Contents

Introduction: What, Why, How	ix
CHAPTER I. Contemporary War	1
The Military Balance
Nuclear War
Conventional War
Low Intensity War
The Record of Failure
CHAPTER II. By Whom War Is Fought	33
The Clausewitzian Universe
Trinitarian War
Total War
Nontrinitarian War
Low Intensity Conflict Resurgens
CHAPTER III. What War Is All About	63
A Prussian Marseillaise
The Law of War: Prisoners
The Law of War: Noncombatants
The Law of War: Weapons
The War Convention
CHAPTER IV. How War Is Fought	95
A Prussian Marseillaise Continued
On Strategy: The Creation of Force
On Strategy: Obstacles to Force
On Strategy: The Use of Force
The Paradoxical Logic
CHAPTER V. What War Is Fought For	124
Political War

	Nonpolitical War: Justice
	Nonpolitical War: Religion
	Nonpolitical War: Existence
	The Metamorphoses of Interest
CHAPTER VI.	Why War Is Fought	157
	The Will to Fight
	Means and Ends
	Tension and Rest
	Aside: Women
	The Strategic Straitjacket
CHAPTER VII.	Future War	192
	By Whom War Will Be Fought
	What War Will Be All About
	How War Will Be Fought
	What War Will Be Fought For
	Why War Will Be Fought
Postscript:	The Shape of Things to Come	224
Selected Bibliography		229
Index		245