

Indian Planning at the Crossroads

Bhabatosh Datta

Delhi
Oxford University Press
Bombay Calcutta Madras
1992

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
1. The Political Economy of Social Decadence	12
2. The New Economic Policy, 1985-6	22
3. The Road to Nowhere	37
4. Monetary Reform	44
5. Banking Through Jamborees	58
6. IMF 'Adjustments' and Poverty	62
7. The Long-term Fiscal Policy, 1985	68
8. Household Savings, Financial Assets and Bank Deposits	74
9. Two Roads to a Mixed Economy	84
10. Borrowing and Inflation	90
11. Commissions, Kickbacks and Bribes	95
12. Capital Market or Casino?	101
13. Red Carpet for Black Money	107
14. Banks: 18 Years After Nationalization (1969-87)	112
15. Export Optimism	118
16. The Rupee and the Dollar Peg	123
17. Budget 1988-9: Lengthening Shadows	129
18. Largess from World Bank	148
19. Ceiling on Government Borrowing	153
20. Prudent Fiscal Deficit	158
21. India's External Debt: The Total Position	164
22. Trade Gaps, Reserves and the Rupee	169
23. Export Performance, 1988-9	174
24. Irrational Expectations	179
25. New Money-Market Instruments	184
26. Time for Decision	189
27. Deeper into the Debt Trap	194

28.	Debt Relief and Right to Work	201
29.	The Definition of Deficit	206
30.	Policy for Imports Needed	210
31.	Central Budget, 1990-1: Trodden Path	216
32.	Approach and Arrival	233
33.	Planning at the Crossroads	239
	Epilogue	244