

A. A. DURI

The Rise of Historical Writing Among the Arabs

Edited and Translated by Lawrence I. Conrad

Introduction by Fred M. Donner

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Introduction by Fred M. Donner	vii
Note on the English Translation by Lawrence I. Conrad	xix
Preface	3
1. The Rise of History Among the Arabs and Its Development During the First Three Centuries A.H.	12
2. Origins of the Historical School of Medina: ‘Urwa—al-Zuhri	76
3. The Beginnings of Historical Folklore: Wahb ibn Munabbih	122
4. Origins of the Historical School of Iraq: Its Rise and Development Until the Third Century A.H.	136
5. Motives for the Writing of History and the Historical Views Embodied in the Works of the First Historians	152
Bibliography of Works Cited	161
Index	177