

South-South Trade and Development

Manufactures in the New International Division of Labour

Steen Folke

Associate Professor Institute of Geography, Copenhagen

Niels Fold

*Research Fellow
Institute of Geography, Copenhagen*

and

Thyge Enevoldsen

*Senior Researcher
Institute of Geography, Copenhagen*

M

St. Martin's Press

Contents

List of Figures and Tables	viii
Preface	xi
List of Acronyms	xiii
1 Introduction: South-South Trade – The Global Context	1
PART I APPROACHES
2 Development of South-South Trade	9
Historical background	9
South-South trade in the world economy after 1955	10
Summary and interpretation	18
3 South-South Trade and Cooperation: The Political Setting	22
Introduction	22
South-South cooperation in the 1970s: setting the stage and riding the high tide	23
South-South cooperation in the 1980s: the sound of silence	31
South-South cooperation in the 1990s: old wine in new bottles	34
Conclusion	38
4 South-South Trade and Development: Theoretical Viewpoints	42
Introduction	42
Conventional economic approaches	45
Political economy approaches	53
South-South trade and development	63
5 South-South Trade in Manufactured Goods since the 1960s	69
Introduction	69
Group I: South-South exporters of a diversified range of manufactured goods, including capital goods and other advanced goods	75
Group II: South-South exporters of a diversified range of manufactured goods	90

Group III: South-South exporters of a few, mostly simple manufactured goods	98
Summary and conclusion	101

PART II CASES

6 South-South Trade in a Regional Perspective: Three Cases	111
General introduction	111
Regional cooperation schemes: theories, forms and functions	113
Industrialisation in expectation of prospective regional cooperation: the case of Togo	122
Divergent national development strategies in a regional cooperation scheme: the case of Nicaragua	126
Revival of old trade relations under new regional conditions: the case of Zimbabwe's export of manufactured goods to Zambia	136
Conclusion	153
7 South-South Export of Manufactures as Part of Global Export-Oriented Industrialisation: The Case of Malaysia	162
Introduction	162
Strategies for industrialisation 1970-90	163
Trade policy and the role of regional economic cooperation	167
Exports 1972-88: development and structure	169
Exports of important manufactured goods to the South	174
Conclusion	184
8 Transfer of Technology in South-South Trade: India's Export of Capital Goods to Tanzania	189
Introduction	189
India as exporter	189
Tanzania as importer	200
Lessons for South-South trade and development	211
9 Conclusion: Problems and Potentials in South-South Trade	216
The rise and fall of South-South trade	217
South-South trade in manufactures is differentiated	220
Problems and potentials in South-South trade	229
The future of South-South trade	235

Contents

vii

Bibliography	239
A. General (Chapters 1-5 and Conclusion)	239
B. Case Studies (Chapters 6-8)	249
Index	257