

THE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT OF IRELAND IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY

KIERAN A. KENNEDY, THOMAS GIBLIN and DEIRDRE McHUGH

ROUTLEDGE
London and New York

Contents

List of Tables	ix
List of Figures	xi
Acknowledgements	xii
List of Abbreviations	xiii
Editor's Introduction	xv

Part One: Introduction

1. The State of the Economy at Independence	3
1.1 Population, Land, and Industry	3
1.2 Comparative Income Levels in Ireland and Europe	12
1.3 Plan of Study	24

Part Two: The Course of the Irish Economy Since Independence

2. From Free Trade to Protection, 1922–46	33
2.1 The First Decade	34
2.2 The Protectionist Path	40
2.3 The Wartime Experience	49
3. Outward Re-orientation, 1947–72	55
3.1 Post-war Adjustment Problems	56
3.2 The Transition in the 1950s	60
3.3 The Reopening of the Economy	65
3.4 Remaining Structural Weaknesses	70
4. Oil and Troubled Waters, 1973–87	75
4.1 The Oil Crises and the Domestic Policy Response	75
4.2 The Decline in Economic Growth	81
4.3 The Demographic Transformation	85
4.4 The Growth of Government	87
4.5 An Economy in Crisis?	92

5. Northern Ireland, 1920–87	95
5.1 Population and Labour Force	96
5.2 Trade and Production	100
5.3 Conclusions	110
6. The Economic Growth Record Since Independence	117
6.1 Ireland's Relative Growth Rate Since Independence	117
6.2 Ireland's Relative Income Per Capita Since 1920	123
6.3 Issues in Evaluating Performance	130

Part Three: Key Issues in Irish Economic Development

7. Population and Labour Force	139
7.1 Population Trends	139
7.2 Employment and Unemployment	142
7.3 Consequences of Demographic Experience	146
7.4 Policy Issues	150
8. Capital Resources and Investment	159
8.1 The Supply of Capital	159
8.2 The Uses of Capital	165
8.3 Investment and Public Policy	172
9. Foreign Trade	178
9.1 Trends in Merchandise Trade	178
9.2 Invisibles and the Balance of Payments	188
9.3 Trade and Growth	192
10. Agriculture	202
10.1 Growth and Structure	202
10.2 Demand Constraints	208
10.3 Supply Constraints	216
10.4 The Impact of Government Policy	220
11. Manufacturing	227
11.1 Growth and Structural Change	227
11.2 The Protectionist Strategy	232
11.3 The Outward-looking Strategy	236
11.4 Retrospect and Prospect	247

12. Overall Assessment	251
12.1 The Record of Economic Progress	251
12.2 Constraints	253
12.3 Performance	256
12.4 The Future Outlook	265
<hr/>
Select Bibliography	271
Index	279