

MARINE ECOLOGY CONCEPTS AND APPLICATIONS

Martin Speight

*Department of Zoology
University of Oxford*

Peter Henderson

*PISCES Conservation Ltd
Lymington, Hampshire, UK*

 WILEY-BLACKWELL

A John Wiley & Sons, Ltd., Publication

CONTENTS

Preface	vi
Acknowledgments	ix
1 The physical template	1
2 Marine biodiversity	27
3 Primary production and chemosynthesis	49
4 Primary consumption: marine herbivores and detritivores	65
5 Predators, parasites, and pathogens	83
6 Competition and succession	107
7 Dispersal and settlement	129
8 The exploitation and maintenance of marine and estuarine fisheries	153
9 Threats to marine ecosystems: the effects of man	169
10 Marine conservation	203
Appendix	239
References	251
Index	271