

Managing the British Economy in the 1960s

A Treasury Perspective

Sir Alec Cairncross

in association with
St Antony's College, Oxford

Contents

List of Tables	viii
List of Figures	ix
Preface	x
Part I
1 Introduction	3
Part II
2 The First Cycle, 1957–61	29
3 The July Measures and After, 1961–2	44
4 The Maudling ‘Dash for Growth’	65
Part III
5 A Change of Government, 1964	91
6 A Strategy for the Pound?	112
7 The Exchange Crisis of 1965	120
8 The Exchange Crisis of 1966	141
9 The New Strategy, 1967	159
10 The Countdown to Devaluation	180
Part IV
11 From Devaluation to the Gold Rush	195
12 A Long Hard Slog, 1968	211
13 Success at Last, 1969	232
14 Monetary and Financial Policy in the 1960s	243
15 Economic Management in the 1960s: A Summing-up	262
Appendix: An Economic Anatomy of the 1960s	276
Notes	283
Calendar of Main Events, 1960–9	290
Dramatis Personae, 1960–70	299
Index	305