

Strategies for Asia Pacific

Philippe Lasserre

and

Hellmut Schütte

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY PRESS
Washington Square, New York

Contents

List of Tables	xi
List of Figures	xii
Acknowledgements	xiv
Introduction: The Asia Pacific Region: The Limits of Global Management	xv
List of Abbreviations	xx
1 The strategic importance of Asia Pacific	1
The role of Asia Pacific in the world economy	1
Asia Pacific as a region	1
Economic size compared	4
Economic size reconsidered	7
Growth as a driver	10
Limits of growth	15
Sub-regions and linkages	16
Intra-regional cooperation	16
Defining sub-regions	18
Links with the outside world	19
2 Formulating strategies for Asia Pacific	23
A strategic framework for Asia Pacific	23
Ambition for Asia Pacific	24
The importance of Asia as a market	25
The importance of Asia Pacific as a resource base	28
The importance of Asia as a source of learning	30
Positioning in Asia Pacific	31
Resources-based versus market-based strategies	31
Choice of countries	32
Choice of entry mode and pathway to strategic development	33
Choice of business segments and competitive approach	36
Orientation: regional strategy versus country-by country strategy	36

Creating capabilities through investments in resources, assets and competences	38
Development of resources	39
Building assets	41
Creating competences	42
Organisational capabilities	44
Putting Asia Pacific strategy into action	46
3 Asia as a Market	49
Japan	49
Open market, closed society	49
Commitment and competition	50
Buyer–supplier relationships	53
Consumer behaviour	54
Market trends	57
ASEANIEs	59
Demographic changes	59
Consumer segmentation	61
The distribution revolution	65
Industrial markets	67
China	71
The shift from state planning to market forces	71
Stratification of the consumer	73
Industrial markets	75
Marketing instruments	77
4 The Players	81
Japanese Kaisha	82
Devoted employees and patient capital	82
Economies of scale, scope and speed	84
Keiretsu	87
Mini-Japans and sogo shosha abroad	92
Kaizen instead of restructuring	94
Korean chaebol	95
Characteristics	95
Managerial culture	98
The Korean chaebol in Asia	99
The Overseas Chinese conglomerates	100
Historical origins	100
Characteristics of the Chinese family business	103
Strategic development	106

The Taiwanese firm: a breed apart?	108
Regional activities of overseas Chinese firms	109
The other players	110
The former colonial trading houses	110
State-owned enterprises	111
Chinese state-owned enterprises	112
5 Asian business logic	115
The role of government	115
Development context	116
Consensus towards growth	116
Business–government relationships	117
Pro-business attitudes of the bureaucracy	118
Governments in Asia: pragmatism and flexibility	119
Development orientations	119
Direct government participation	123
The role of relationships	124
Family and blood ties	124
Social, school and club ties	126
Corruption	127
Cultures and business in the Asia Pacific region	129
The Asian concept of social organisation	129
Pervasiveness of Confucian ethics	131
Competitive and business logic	131
Goal setting	132
Competitive behaviour	133
Decision-making	135
The Asian business context: an overview	136
6 Competing	140
Strategic and market intelligence	140
Reliability and accessibility of information	140
Sources of information	142
Market research in Asia	144
Entry strategies	145
Selecting and changing entry modes	145
Distribution agreements	148
Choice of location	153
Local content requirements	156
Critical mass and optimism traps	157

Competitive moves	160
First mover advantage	160
Late entry strategies	162
Marketing across the region	163
Countering Japanese competitors	165
7 Cooperating in country-based partnerships	170
Partnerships in Asia	170
Country-based partnerships	172
Rationale for partnering	172
Partner selection	176
Negotiating partnership agreements	190
Managing partnerships	193
Organisational design	193
Staffing	195
Control	196
Communication	196
Joint venture decay and failure	198
A special case: joint venturing in China	201
The political and legal context	201
Entering a joint venture	202
Creating and managing the fit	203
The foreign exchange dilemma	205
Early entrants advantage	206
8 Cooperating in global partnerships	208
The reach of global partnerships	208
Global partnerships and strategic alliances	208
Japanese, Korean and Taiwanese partners	210
Competitive collaboration and networks	211
Success and failure of global partnerships	212
Western perceptions	212
Assessment and measurement of success and failure	213
Structural differences between partners	214
Trading of contributions	214
Asymmetric strategies	218
Managerial behaviour and learning	221
Organisational requirements	224
Setting up a global partnership	224
Organisational learning	226
Provisions for exit	229

9 Organising	232
Organisational vicious circles	232
Organisational facilitators in Asia Pacific	234
Regional legitimisation	235
Regional drive	236
Adaption versus transformation	237
Commitment through people	238
Informal networking	239
The effect of globalisation on Asian operations	240
Strategy formulation and budgeting	242
Evaluation processes	243
Learning processes	244
Regional headquarters	244
The role of regional headquarters	245
Determinants of the roles of regional headquarters	248
Alternative ways of managing regionally	250
The location of regional headquarters and the role of
Japan	252
Regional headquarters: a typology	253
10 Managing Human Resources	256
Recruiting local staff	256
Scarcity	258
Reluctance to work for foreign firms	261
Retaining local staff	261
Fairness	262
Rewards	262
Sense of belonging	263
Long-term view	264
Expatriate management	265
Common expatriate problems: motivation and performance	266
Expatriate skills	267
Cultural assimilation	269
Cultural differentiation and integration	270
11 The Future of the Asia Pacific Region	278
Growth versus development	278
Growth, development and internal stability	281
External stability and sources of conflict	283

The move towards Asianisation	287
Learning about and learning from Asia Pacific	291
References	294
Index	303