

Why Weimar?

Questioning the Legacy of Weimar
from Goethe to 1999

EDITED BY

Peter M. Daly, Hans Walter Frischkopf,
Trudis E. Goldsmith-Reber, & Horst Richter

PETER LANG

New York • Washington, D.C./Baltimore • Bern
Frankfurt am Main • Berlin • Brussels • Vienna • Oxford

Contents

Hans Walter Frischkopf (McGill University) Preface	ix
Peter M. Daly (McGill University) Introduction	xiii
Goethe and Politics	1
W. Daniel Wilson (University of California, Berkeley) Why Not Weimar? “Normal” German Culture and the Authoritarian State in Classical Weimar	3
Weimar: From the Capital of a Principality to the European Capital of Culture	21
Michael S. Batts (University of British Columbia) The Other (Non-Classical) Side of Weimar in Goethe’s Time	23
Markus S. Schulz (Bauhaus-Universität Weimar) Cultural Politics after Buchenwald: Imagining Weimar	39
Susanne Frank (Universität Freiburg) Festivalization, Image Politics and Local Identity: The Rollplatz Debate in Weimar, European City of Culture 1999	49
Weimar and the Construction of Cultural Identity: 1885-1999	63
Justus H. Ulbricht (Stiftung Weimarer Klassik, Weimar) “How One Becomes What One Is.” Weimar’s Transformation to the “Heart of German Culture” 1885-1930	65
Andrea Dietrich (Universität Leipzig) The (Last) Fulfilment of Goethe’s Will: The Second Extension Building of the Goethe National Museum as a Case Study in the Intersection of Culture and Politics	75
Marcus Gärtner (Rowohlt Verlag, Berlin) Weimar/GDR—A Realm of Memory and Its Institutions	83

Silke Roth (University of Pennsylvania) Goethe and Buchenwald: Re-Constructing German National Identity in the Weimar Year 1999	93
Weimar: Its Legacy in Art History	107
Alain Findeli (Université de Montréal) Goethe and the Bauhaus: An Epistemological Inquiry	109
Theodore Fiedler (University of Kentucky) Weimar between Modernism and Heimatkunst : Contrary Visions of Cultural Renewal and National Identity at the Turn of the Century	133
Rosamunde Neugebauer (Universität Frankfurt) Myth and Symbolic Topography: Weimar and Berlin in the 1920s	163
Weimar: A Literary Legacy	177
Willi Jasper (Universität Potsdam) Faust and the Germans	179
David Pugh (Queen's University) Is It Time to Decentre Classicism? Thoughts on the British Reception of Weimar	189
Edward T. Larkin (University of New Hampshire) The Detonation of a Timeless Weimarer Klassik : Thomas Alexander Schmidt's Weimar oder das Ende der Zeit	201
Architecture and Memory	221
Peter Rosenbaum (New York University) The Buchenwald Memorial and Its Différend	223
Phyllis Lambert (Canadian Centre for Architecture, Montreal) Holocaust Memorials. Distanced Memories: Site / Community / Meaning	237
Culture and Politics	257
Gregory Baum (McGill University) Catholics in the Weimar Republic and the Third Reich through the Eyes of Walter Dirks	259

Matthias Konzett (Yale University) Karl Kraus and Walter Benjamin: Post-Nationalism in Vienna and Weimar Modernism	271
Arnd Bohm (Carleton University) Marbach vs. Weimar: Cultural Politics in the Cold War and Beyond	283
Jay Julian Rosellini (Suffolk University) The Right Thinking: Attempts to Revive the Conservative Revolution in the Berlin Republic	297
Florian Bail (Dalhousie University) Reflections on the Meaning of the Weimarer Klassik for the Evolving Political Culture of the Berlin Republic	313
Contributors and Editors	329
Index	335