

Local Government in Eastern Europe

Establishing Democracy at the Grassroots

Edited by
Andrew Coulson
University of Birmingham

STUDIES OF COMMUNISM IN TRANSITION

Edward Elgar

Contents

Notes on Contributors	vii
Preface	ix
Map 1. Eastern and Central Europe	xi
1 From Democratic Centralism to Local Democracy Andrew Coulson	1
PART I
2 Local Government in Poland Anna Cielecka and John Gibson	23
3 The Czech and Slovak Republics Kenneth Davey	41
4 Local Government in Hungary Kenneth Davey	57
5 Local Government in Romania Adrian Campbell	76
6 Local Government in Bulgaria David Jepson, Valerie McDonnell and Belin Mollov	102
7 Regional and Local Government in Ukraine Adrian Campbell	115
8 Local Self-Government in Latvia Edvins Vanags	128
9 Local Government in Lithuania in the Transition Period Artashes Gazaryan	133
10 Regional Power in the Russian Federation Adrian Campbell	145
PART II
11 Socio-Cultural Obstacles to Community Participation in Poland Krzysztof Podemski	171

12	Local Communities and Local Self-Government in Poland: A Regional Case Study Ryszard Cichocki and Anna Cielecka	186
13	Local Authorities and Economic Development in Slovakia Soňa Čapková	198
14	Local Government Finance in Hungary: Issues and Dilemmas Nick Devas	214
15	Power and Structure in Nizhnii Novgorod, St. Petersburg and Moscow Adrian Campbell	238
16	What East European Democracies Might Learn from the West Alan Norton	264
	Index	281