

SAUDI ARABIA

The Ceaseless Quest for Security

NADAV SAFRAN

The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press
Cambridge, Massachusetts, and London, England

1985

Contents

Conversion of Hijra years and fiscal years to Gregorian dates,
1380–1400 H.Y. xv

Map of Saudi Arabia xviii

Introduction 1

Part One The Origins of Saudi Arabia 7

1 The Rise and Fall of the First Two Realms 9

The First Realm 9

The Second Realm 14

Lessons from the First Two Realms 20

2 The Third Realm: Creating an Empire, 1902–1932 28

Early Reconquests 29

Overpowering Peninsular Opponents 36

Mastering the Ikhwan and Rounding Off the Empire 49

Observations on the Creation of the Third Realm 55

3 Preserving the Empire, 1932–1953 57

Defense and Foreign Policy during the Lean Years 58

Defense Establishment and Strategy 68

Defense and Security Allocations 69

Conclusions 71

Part Two The Reign of Saud, 1953–1964		73
4	Tribulations under the First Successor	77
	Muddling Through	77
	Facing the Contradictions	88
	Defense Establishment and Policy	103
	Defense and Security Allocations	107
	Conclusions	110
Part Three The Reign of Faisal, 1964–1975		113
5	Strivings and Probings, 1964–1973	117
	Consolidating Power	117
	Managing the Yemen Conflict	119
	Dealing with Proliferating Problems	122
6	The October War and Its Aftermath, 1973–1975	151
	The Embargo	152
	Saudi Arabia after the Embargo	167
7	The Defense and Security Perspective, 1963–1975	180
	Defense Allocations: Fluctuations, Trends, Significance	180
	Strategic-Military Concepts and Programs: Scope, Aims, Results	196
	Conclusions	212
Part Four The Reign of Khaled, 1975–1982		215
8	A Time of Change: Overview	217
	Changes at the Power Center	217
	Strategically Relevant Domestic Developments	220
	Political-Strategic and Strategic-Military Developments: Two Stages	227
9	The Arab-Israeli Arena, 1975–1979: The Cairo and Damascus Connections	240
	Sinai II	241
	The Lebanese Civil War	245
	The Geneva Project	251
	Sadat's Initiative and the Egyptian-Israeli Peace	256
10	The Gulf Arena, 1975–1979: Balancing Baghdad and Tehran	265

11	The Yemens, Oman, and the Horn of Africa, 1975–1979: Accommodation and War	282
12	The American Connection, 1975–1979: Shifting Interdependence	295
	Successful Management of the New Relationship	296
	Mutual Disappointments and Strains	298
	Crisis and Seeming Collision Course	303
13	The Arab-Israeli Arena, 1979–1982: Opposite Pulls	309
	Family Reconciliation and Policy Compromise	311
	Attempting American-PLO Dialogue	313
	Averting Baghdad-Core Pressures: The 1979 Tunis Summit	315
	The Soviet Invasion of Afghanistan and Arab Polarization	318
	The Gulf War and Arab Polarization	322
	Keeping Egypt at Arm's Length	324
	Strategic Consensus, U.S. Arms Deal, and Sequels	327
	The Fahd Plan and Fiasco	332
	Coping with the 1982 Lebanon War	341
14	The Gulf Arena, 1979–1982: Crosscurrents and Uncertainty	352
	Initial Redefinition of Positions	353
	Setbacks and Adjustments	357
	Gulf War Perils, Relief, Opportunities	364
	New Perils and Anxious Temporizing	375
15	The Yemens, 1979–1982: Living with the Problem	386
16	The American Connection, 1979–1982: Ambivalence, Improvisation, Drift	398
	Crisis and Turning Point	401
	Flawed Reconciliation	403
	Faltering Strategic Cooperation	406
	Open Strategic Cooperation in the Face of Danger	410
	Reversion to Ambivalence as the Danger Subsides	412
	Opting for Syria and Relapsing into Improvisation	416
17	The Defense and Security Perspective, 1975–1982	420
	Defense Allocations: Trends, Fluctuations, Significance	420
	Strategic-Military Concepts and Programs: Scope, Aims, Results	430

Conclusions: Retrospect and Prospect	449
Khaled's Reign and the Quest for Security	449
Prospects for the 1980s	456
Appendix. Sample of a Summary of a Saudi Budget	461
Notes	465
Bibliography	491
Index	509