

THE FACES OF POWER

SECOND EDITION

CONSTANCY AND CHANGE
IN UNITED STATES FOREIGN POLICY
FROM TRUMAN TO CLINTON

SEYOM BROWN

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY PRESS
NEW YORK

CONTENTS

Preface	xi
---------	----

PART I.

PURPOSE AND POWER: AN OVERVIEW

1. Constancy and Change Since World War II	3
2. The Changing Essence of Power	11

PART II.

THE TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION

3. The Shattering of Expectations	17
4. The Implementation of Containment	33

PART III.

THE EISENHOWER ERA

5. A New Look for Less Expensive Power	51
6. Waging Peace: The Eisenhower Face	69
7. Crises and Complications	81

PART IV.

THE KENNEDY-JOHNSON YEARS

8. Enhancing the Arsenal of Power	119
9. The Third World as a Primary Arena of Competition	145
10. Kennedy's Cuban Crises	160
11. Berlin Again	173
12. The Vietnam Quagmire	183

PART V.

STATECRAFT UNDER NIXON AND FORD

13. Avoiding Humiliation in Indochina	213
14. The Insufficiency of Military Containment	235
15. The Middle East and the Reassertion of American Competence Abroad	258
16. The Anachronism of Conservative Realpolitik	284

PART VI.

THE CARTER PERIOD

17. The Many Faces of Jimmy Carter	311
18. Idealism as the Higher Realism	323
19. The Camp David Accords: Carter's Finest Hour	337
20. Hostages in Iran	352
21. Afghanistan and the Reassertion of Geopolitical Imperatives	377

PART VII.

THE REAGAN ERA: REALISM OR ROMANTICISM?

22. High Purpose and Grand Strategy	389
23. The Tension Between Foreign and Domestic Imperatives	411
24. Middle Eastern Complexities: The Arab-Israeli Conflict, Terrorism, and Arms for Hostages	423
25. Contradictions in Latin America	459
26. The Reagan-Gorbachev Symbiosis	483

PART VIII.

PRUDENCE AND POWER IN THE BUSH YEARS

27. Presiding Over the End of the Cold War	503
28. George Bush and the Resort to Military Power	525
29. The New World Order	561

PART IX.

ENTER BILL CLINTON

30. From Domestic Politician to Geopolitician	581
Notes	607
Index	645