

Hayim Lapin

Economy, Geography, and Provincial History
in Later Roman Palestine

Mohr Siebeck

Table of Contents

Preface	V
Tables, Figures, and Maps	IX
Note on Abbreviations	X
Introduction	1
Chapter One: Central Places in Theory and Practice	15
A. Description of Central-Place Models	16
B. Some Implications of Theoretical Landscapes	23
C. Markets and Hierarchy in Later Roman Palestine: Some Examples	30
1. t. Baba' Mešřa' 3:20; Sipra, Bē-har, Paraša 3:8 (107d)	31
2. m. Megilla 1:1–3; y. Megilla 1:1 (70b)	31
3. t. Pesahim 2 [1]:1–2	35
4. y. Baba' Mešřa' 5:8 (10c)	36
Chapter Two: Landscape, Archaeology, and Settlement Pattern	39
A. Describing the Data	39
B. Five Archaeological Survey of Israel Regions	44
C. The Data as a Whole	63
D. Regional Integration?	68
Chapter Three: Reconstructions of an Economic Landscape in Northern Palestine	78
A. Large Settlements and the Roman Road System	82
B. Proposed Reconstruction of an Upper Tier	94
C. Settlement Distribution and Rural Marketing	100
D. Models of a Lower Tier	104
E. From Theoretical Landscape to Historical Region	113
Chapter Four: Aspects of the Geography of Marketing in Palestinian Literature	123
A. Aspects of a Geography of Marketing	126
1. Urban markets	130
2. Rural marketing	133
3. Literary texts and a central-place landscape	138
B. Aspects of a Marketing System	140
1. Fairs	141
2. Professional marketers	146

3. Market dependency by consumers	150
C. Conclusions	151
Chapter Five: Toward a Regional History of Northern Palestine
in Late Antiquity	153
A. Political and Administrative	155
B. Economic	162
C. Cultural	175
D. Toward a Regional History	191
Bibliography	195
Index of Sources	213
A. Rabbinic Texts, Hebrew Bible, New Testament	213
B. Classical and Patristic Texts	216
C. Papyri and Inscriptions	218
Index of Authors	219
Index of Subjects	223