

The Research Relationship

Practice and Politics in Social
Policy Research

Edited by

G. Clare Wenger

University College of North Wales

London

ALLEN & UNWIN

Boston

· Sydney

Wellington

Contents

---

Acknowledgements	page	xiii
Notes on Contributors		xv
1 Introduction: the Problematic Relationship G. Clare Wenger		1
Part One STUDYING THE RESEARCH CONTEXT		13
Introduction to Part One		15
2 A Plea for Praxeology P. J. M. Nas, W. J. M. Prins and W. A. Shadid		18
3 Research and Policy Interactions: a Case Study G. Clare Wenger		43
Part Two TAKING SIDES: THE ADVOCACY ROLE		57
Introduction to Part Two		59
4 The Anthropologist as Legitimator: Participatory Development in Egypt Diana de Treville		63
5 Taking Sides in Conflict: Applied Social Research in the South African Gold-Mining Industry J. K. McNamara		76
Part Three GETTING THE MESSAGE ACROSS		93
Introduction to Part Three		95
6 Publish and Be Ignored; Proselytize and Be Damned Roger Hadley		98
7 Why Poor People Don't Co-operate: Learning from Traditional Systems Anil K. Gupta		111

Part Four	IDENTIFYING HIDDEN AGENDAS	129
	Introduction to Part Four	131
8	In and out of the Game: a Case Study of Contract Research Kathleen McDermott	135
9	Doing Research into Discrimination: Problems of Method, Interpretation and Ethics Richard Jenkins	144
Part Five	UNEXPECTED RESULTS AND OUTCOMES	161
	Introduction to Part Five	163
10	The Politics of Population Research with a UN Sponsor Donald P. Warwick	167
11	If It's Bad News, Shoot the Messenger Josephine Jaeger and G. Clare Wenger	185
12	Conclusions: Establishing a Dialogue G. Clare Wenger	198
Index		220