

Inventing Lebanon

Nationalism and the State
under the Mandate

Kais M. Firro

I.B. TAURIS

LONDON · NEW YORK

CONTENTS

Note on transliteration	8
Preface	9
Part One: In Search of a Nation
Chapter One: The Present in the Past: From "Mt. Lebanon" to "Greater Lebanon"	15
Lebanism	23
Michel Chiha	30
Arabism	37
Chapter Two: The Past in the Present: Confessionalism vs. Nationalism	42
Salibi "One"—Salibi "Two"	42
Messarra and Harik: " La diversité est notre destin "	46
Munaḥ al-Ṣulḥ and al-Faḍl Shalaq: "Lebanon—One Culture"	47
Ṣāyigh and Mughayzil: Colonialism at the Root of Confessionalism	49
Ziyāda and Kawtharānī: Arab-Muslim Tradition vs. Western Colonialism	52
Ḍāhir: Hyphenating Confessionalism and Class	56
'Amil: "Confessionalism (...) is Nothing"	61
Part Two: In the Shadow of the Cedar
Chapter Three: Between Town and Countryside	71
Rural Resistance	71
The Politics of Confessionalism: First Elections	77
The Politics of Economics	79
Urban Merchants and Countryside Elites	84
Refashioning the Zu'ama	91

Chapter Four: Did the System Create the Zu'ama or Vice-Versa?	99
The Rise of the Zu'ama-aqtāb	100
True Reform or Tool?	106
"Confessional" Crisis	111
The Race for the Presidency	114
The Numbers Game	118
Chapter Five: Maronites and Sunnis Seek Common Ground	126
No Room for "Non-Confessional" Parties	126
"There is no God but Allah and Patriarch 'Aṛīḏa is His Beloved"	134
Another Coastal Conference	141
Toward a "Treaty of Friendship and Alliance"	146
Chapter Six: The Entrenchment of the "Lebanese System": Sunnis and Shi'is after 1936	151
Sunnis: "Our Rights in Lebanon."	152
Shi'is: Raising the Banner of Grievances	159
Dissatisfaction in the South	168
Confessionalism Prevails	172
Chapter Seven: Toward Independence	177
Enter the British	177
Frustration among the Druzes	179
Druze Elites: Between Particularism and Arabism	182
France vs. Britain	186
The Game Resumes	191
Toward the Elections	195
Conclusion: 1943	201
Elections	201
The National Pact	207
Notes	211
Bibliography	252
Index	263