

Women's Authority and Society in Early East-Central Africa

Christine Saidi

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	1
1 The Patriarchal Myth: Deconstruction and Reconstruction	7
2 Correlating Linguistics and Archaeology in East-Central African History	23
3 The Early Social History of East-Central Africa	60
4 Women's Authority: Female Coalitions, Politics, and Religion	75
5 Women's Authority and Female Initiation in East-Central African History	101
6 Pots, Hoes, and Food: Women in Technology and Production	128
7 Sacred, but Never Profane: Sex and Sexuality in East-Central African History	147
8 Kucilinga na Lesa Kupanshanya Mayo	162
Bibliography	167
Index	181