

Reversing Industrial Decline?

Industrial Structure and Policy in Britain and Her Competitors

Edited by
Paul Hirst and Jonathan Zeitlin

BERG

Oxford/New York/Hamburg

Distributed exclusively in the US and Canada by

St. Martin's Press, New York

Contents

Contributors	vi
Introduction Paul Hirst and Jonathan Zeitlin	1
1 Flexible Specialisation and the Re-emergence of Regional Economies Charles F. Sabel	17
2 Facing up to Manufacturing Failure Karel Williams, John Williams, Colin Haslam and Andrew Wardlow	71
3 Flexible Automation and Factory Politics: The United Kingdom in Comparative Perspective Bryn Jones	95
4 The Search for Flexibility: Subcontracting Networks in French and British Engineering Edward H. Lorenz	122
5 Innovation, Skills and Training: Micro-electronics and Manpower in the United Kingdom and West Germany Adrian Campbell, Wendy Currie and Malcolm Warner	133
6 Markets, Technology and Local Intervention: The Case of Clothing Jonathan Zeitlin and Peter Totterdill	155
7 Sector Strategies and Industrial Policy: The Furniture Industry and the Greater London Enterprise Board Michael H. Best	191
8 Sector Strategy in the West Midlands David Elliott and Michael Marshall	223
9 Macro-economic Management and Industrial Policy Jim Tomlinson	248
10 The Politics of Industrial Policy Paul Hirst	269
Index	