

Very Brave or Very Foolish? Memoirs of an African Democrat

Quett Ketumile Joni Masire

Edited by Stephen R. Lewis, Jr.

Contents

List of Illustrations and Maps	vi
Editor's Note	vii
Prologue – A Reluctant Politician	ix
Part I – My Life Before Politics
1. Growing Up	1
2. Teacher, Farmer, Journalist, Husband	13
3. Chief Bathoen II and My Views on Chieftainship	24
Part II – Politics: Creating and Leading a Nation
4. Early Politics and Legco	30
5. Race and Race Relations	42
6. The Botswana Democratic Party	48
7. Creating a Nation	61
8. Selecting the Talent and Leading the Government	83
9. Working with Seretse Khama	103
10. Opposition Parties	110
11. Politics and Elections after 1965	123
Part III – Developing the Nation and Our People
12. Managing Economic Development	146
13. Economic Strategies and Programmes	168
14. Land and Cattle	183
15. Diamonds and Other Minerals	199
16. Economic Opportunities and Disparities	216
Part IV – Dealing with Our Neighbours and Other States
17. Relations with South Africa during Apartheid	246
18. Making Our Way in Southern Africa	274
19. Diplomacy, the Great Powers and the United Nations	297
Part V – Personal Matters
20. Family Man, Farmer and President	317
Postscript	329
Abbreviations	331
Bibliography	334
Index	336