

*Leadership in an Interdependent World:
The Statesmanship of Adenauer, De Gaulle,
Thatcher, Reagan and Gorbachev*

Ghița Ionescu

Longman

Contents

Preface	viii
Acknowledgements	xi
INTRODUCTION
The concept of interdependence	3
The Mutations of the 1970s	9
The micro-electronic information revolution	10
The terminal illness of Marxism-Leninism-Stalinism	12
The Vietnam War	13
The monetary, financial and social disorders following the Vietnam war	15
The Creation of the European Community	22
The Oil Crisis: a crisis but not a mutation	26
Re-introduction	27
Notes and references	28
CHAPTER ONE: KONRAD ADENAUER
I Personal circumstances and historical antecedents	32
His age	32
His anti-Nazi record	32
His solitary personal life	33
His mature intellect	34
His Christian education and philosophy	35
He was a Rhinelander	38
II Adenauer's politics of interdependence	43
Sovereignty, by any other name	44
The North Rhine Westphalia Land and the change in East-West relations	45

Contents

Staatliche Fortexistenz, the Marshall Plan and the Berlin Blockade	48
The Soziale Marktwirtschaft	52
The Schuman Plan	54
The Korean war, re-armament and the 'road to full sovereignty'	58
External fulfilment	63
Internal decline and fall	66
Conclusions	71
Notes and references	72
 CHAPTER TWO: CHARLES DE GAULLE
I Personal circumstances and historical antecedents	76
Faith	77
Courage	81
A first aside on the relations between de Gaulle and Monnet	84
Political ambitions	87
Grandeur	94
II De Gaulle's policies of interdependence	96
The impact of war-time relations with the Allies on De Gaulle's foreign policy	97
Relations with the USSR	98
Relations with the Americans	101
The dialectics of statesmanship	103
The strong state and the 'stalled' society	106
La France, the World and Europe	116
A second aside on the relations between de Gaulle and Monnet	123
Climbing down	136
Conclusions	144
Notes and references	146
 CHAPTER THREE: MARGARET THATCHER
I Personal circumstances and historical antecedents	155
Her qualities and the defects of her qualities	161
Energy	161
Englishness	167
The bourgeois way of life	173
II Mrs Thatcher's policies of interdependence	182
Economics and sovereignty	185
Economic policy	187

Monetarism	189
Privatization	191
Mrs Thatcher à la recherche du temps perdu	194
Mrs Thatcher and the European Community	195
Conclusions	206
Notes and references	208
CHAPTER FOUR: RONALD REAGAN
I Personal circumstances and historical antecedents	212
The coming of media politics	219
Governor to President	225
II Reagan's policies of interdependence	229
Strategic interdependence	230
The SDI	234
The economic interdependence	248
Conclusions	258
Notes and references	260
CHAPTER FIVE: MIKHAIL GORBACHEV
Chernobyl and other events	267
I Personal circumstances and historical antecedents	270
II Gorbachev's policies of interdependence	281
Transforming the Empire	284
The Marxist-Leninist-Stalinist state	292
Becoming a market state	296
The end of the Cold War: the beginning of peace?	304
In guise of conclusions	310
Notes and references	312
CHAPTER SIX: CONCLUSIONS
The end of the cold war	315
The categories of sovereignty	317
The politics of interdependence	324
Notes and references	328
Index	329