

Art and Ideology
in Revolutionary China

DAVID HOLM

CLARENDON PRESS • OXFORD

1991

Contents

	Page
Note on Chinese Character Glosses	xiv
List of Illustrations	xv
List of Figures	xvi
List of Maps	xvii
List of Abbreviations Used in Notes and References	xviii
Introduction	1
I. The Development of a CCP Cultural Policy
1. CCP Art and Propaganda before 1937	15
2. The Dilemmas of National Form	43
3. Rectification	87
II. Yangge : A New Model Genre
4. Yangge and the Communist Party before 1943	115
5. The Peasants' Own Yangge	141
6. New Yangge : The Lu Xun Academy's Pilot Project	215
7. High Tide: The Yangge Movement in Yan'an	247
8. Transforming the Repertoire of the Folk Dance and Folk Play	287
9. Conclusion: Yangge , the Party, and the Mandate of Heaven	317
Appendix: Yangge Troupes Active in Yan'an, Spring 1944	343
Bibliography	345
Glossary	365
Index	389