

JOHN ZIMAN

Prometheus Bound

Science in a dynamic steady state

The Father of the Gods wished to punish the Titan who had stolen Fire from Heaven and brought it to the People of Earth. Prometheus was chained to a mountain top, and savaged day after day by a voracious eagle.

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Preface	vii
1. What is happening to science?	1
2. Scientific and technological progress	17
3. Sophistication and collectivization	43
4. Transition to a new regime	67
5. Allocation of resources	93
6. Institutional responses to change	131
7. Scientific careers	167
8. Science without frontiers	213
9. Steering through the buzzword blizzard	249
Further Reading	277
Index	281