1.7 Outline of the Book	21
Notes	22
2. Resources, Technology, and Production: An Aggregate View	25
2.1 Two Familiar Descriptions of the Economic System	25
2.2 An Aggregate Production Model	28
2.3 Population: Labor Force and Mouths to Feed	31
2.4 Capital: The Economy's Plant and Equipment	35
2.5 Land: Space, Resources, Sink	37
2.6 A Final Look at the Aggregate Production Model	42
Notes	44
3. The Microeconomic Theory of Production and Technological Change	47
3.1 The Production Function and Technical Efficiency	47
3.2 Input Prices and Economic Efficiency	52
3.3 The Microeconomic Theory of Technological Change	57
3.4 Theory and the Industrial Setting	59
Notes	65
4. Returns to Scale, Scale Economies, and Technological Change	67
4.1 Basic Concepts	67
4.2 The Theory of Scale Effects	69
4.3 Economies of Scale	71
4.4 Scale Effects in the Industrial Setting	74
4.5 Technological Change and Scale Effects	79
4.6 Scale Economies in Multi-Plant Firms	85
Notes	85
Appendix: A Note on Learning	86
Notes	88

5. The Evaluation of Industrial Performance	89
5.1 The Firm—Structure and Environment	89
5.2 Managerial Decisions and Performance	90
5.3 The Basic Determinants of Performance	94
5.4 Productivity Analysis	95
5.5 Linking Physical Performance with Costs	97
5.6 Integrating Unit Costs with Other Performance Determinants	99
5.7 Some Problems of Measurement	100
5.8 Concluding Observations	105
Notes	106
 6. Inventing as an Economic Activity	 109
6.1 Basic Concepts	109
6.2 The Supply of Inventions	112
6.3 Independent Inventors and Organized Inventive Activity	117
6.4 Corporate Strategies for Inventive Activity	122
6.5 Industry Structure and Inventive Performance	124
Notes	126
 7. The Patent System	 129
7.1 Patents and the Patent System	129
7.2 Legal Features of Patents	130
7.3 The Origins and Development of the Patent System	133
7.4 The Inventor's Monopoly	139
7.5 Economic Evaluations of the Patent System	146
7.6 Concluding Observations	150
Notes	151
 8. Development and Innovation	 153
8.1 Concepts and Definitions	153
8.2 Some Historical Evidence	156
8.3 Project Selection and the Management of Innovation	165
Notes	171
Appendix: Innovation in a Large Corporation, by Dr. John R. Coltman	173
