

CENTERING ANIMALS

in Latin American History

Martha Lew and Zeb Tortorici, editors

FOREWORD BY ERICA FUDGE

Duke University Press

Durham and London, 2013

CONTENTS

ix Foreword by Erica Fudge

xiii Acknowledgments

INTRODUCTION

Writing Animal Histories

ZEB TORTORICI AND MARTHA FEW 1

PART I Animals, Culture, and Colonialism

1. The Year the People Turned into Cattle:
The End of the World in New Spain, 1558

LEÓN GARCÍA GARAGARZA 31

2. Killing Locusts in Colonial Guatemala

MARTHA FEW 62

3. "In the Name of the Father and the Mother of All Dogs":
Canine Baptisms, Weddings, and Funerals in Bourbon Mexico

ZEB TORTORICI 93

PART II Animals and Medicine, Science and Public Health

4. From Natural History to Popular Remedy: Animals and Their Medicinal Applications among the Kallawayá in Colonial Peru

ADAM WARREN 123

5. Pest to Vector: Disease, Public Health, and the Challenges of State-Building in Yucatán, Mexico, 1833–1922

HEATHER McCREA 149

6. Notes on Medicine, Culture, and the History of Imported Monkeys in Puerto Rico

NEEL AHUJA 180

PART III The Meanings and Politics of Postcolonial Animals

7. Animal Labor and Protection in Cuba: Changes in Relationships with Animals in the Nineteenth Century

REINALDO FUNES MONZOTE 209

(translated by Alex Hidalgo and Zeb Tortorici)

8. On Edge: Fur Seals and Hunters along the Patagonian Littoral, 1860–1930

JOHN SOLURI 243

9. Birds and Scientists in Brazil: In Search of Protection, 1894–1938

REGINA HORTA DUARTE 270

(translated by Zeb Tortorici and Roger Arthur Cough)

10. Trujillo, the Goat: Of Beasts, Men, and Politics in the Dominican Republic

LAUREN DERBY 302

CONCLUSION

Loving, Being, Killing Animals

NEIL L. WHITEHEAD 329

347 Recommended Bibliography

357 Contributors

361 Index