

Linguistics in Context: Connecting Observation and Understanding

Lectures from the 1985 LSA/TESOL and NEH Institutes

edited by

Deborah Tannen

Georgetown University

Volume XXIX in the Series
ADVANCES IN DISCOURSE PROCESSES
Roy O. Freedle, Editor

ABLEX PUBLISHING CORPORATION
NORWOOD, NEW JERSEY

Contents

Contributors ix

Preface xiii

Introduction 1

I. NEH LECTURES: HUMANISTIC APPROACHES TO LINGUISTIC ANALYSIS 15

1. Language in Particular: A Lecture 17
A. L. Becker

2. Inarticulateness 37
R. P. McDermott

3. The Autobiographical Impulse 69
Harold Rosen

4. Hearing Voices in Conversation, Fiction, and Mixed Genres 89
Deborah Tannen

II. THE NATURE AND USE OF LANGUAGE AND LINGUISTIC THEORY 115

5. Emergent Grammar and the A Priori Grammar Postulate 117
Paul Hopper

6. Discourse as an Interactional Achievement II: An Exercise in Conversation Analysis 135
Emanuel A. Schegloff

7. The Judicial Testing of Linguistic Theory 159
William Labov

III.	POETRY: LINGUISTIC ANALYSIS AND LANGUAGE TEACHING	183
8.	Poetry and Pedagogy H. G. Widdowson	185
9.	The Unheralded Revolution in the Sonnet: Toward a Generative Model Paul Friedrich	199
10.	Bridging Language Learning, Language Analysis, and Poetry, via Experimental Syntax Kenneth L. Pike	221
IV.	LANGUAGE LEARNING AND TEACHING	247
11.	From Context to Communication: Paths to Second Language Acquisition Muriel Saville-Troike	249
12.	Do We Learn to Read by Reading?: The Relationship Between Free Reading and Reading Ability Stephen D. Krashen	269
13.	Language Learning and Language Teaching: Towards an Integrated Model Peter Strevens	299
	Author Index	313
	Subject Index	318