

URBAN
GEOGRAPHY

DAVID H. KAPLAN

JAMES O. WHEELER

STEVEN R. HOLLOWAY

THOMAS W. HODLER, CARTOGRAPHER

WILEY

John Wiley & Sons, Inc.

10476

---

CONTENTS

Preface vii

PART I: Introduction to Cities and Urban Geography

1 AN INTRODUCTION TO URBAN GEOGRAPHY 1

|   |    |
|---|----|
| Introduction  | 1  |
| The Field of Urban Geography  | 2  |
| The Origin and Evolution of Urban Geography                         | 4  |
| The Four Traditions, 1900–1970                                      | 4  |
| The Physical Tradition  | 4  |
| The Human-Environment Tradition                                     | 5  |
| The Regional Tradition  | 6  |
| The Spatial Tradition   | 6  |
| Precursors of Spatial Analysis in Urban Geography                   | 6  |
| European Influences on Spatial Analysis in Urban Geography          | 7  |
| Extradisciplinary Influences on Spatial Analysis in Urban Geography | 8  |
| Critiques of Spatial Analysis in Urban Geography                    | 8  |
| Geographic Information Science and Urban Geography                  | 11 |
| Box 1.1   | 12 |
| Substantive Trends in Urban Geography                               | 14 |
| Urbanization and Global Cities                                      | 14 |
| Feminist Urban Geography  | 15 |
| Urban Cultural Geography  | 16 |
| Urban Historical Geography  | 17 |
| Locational Analysis in Urban Geography                              | 17 |
| Introduction to This Textbook                                       | 18 |

Wrapping Up 19

Readings 20

2 THE ORIGINS AND DEVELOPMENT OF CITIES 22

|   |    |
|---|----|
| What are Cities?  | 23 |
| Preconditions to Urban Formation  | 24 |
| Ecology, Technology, and Power  | 24 |
| Box 2.1   | 25 |
| Box 2.2   | 26 |
| Theories of Urban Origins   | 26 |
| Agricultural Surplus  | 27 |
| Religious Causes  | 28 |
| Defensive Needs   | 29 |
| Trading Requirements  | 29 |
| Patterns of Early Urbanization  | 30 |
| Locations of Early Cities   | 31 |
| Diffusion of Urbanization   | 32 |
| Urban Evolution and Early Economic Imperatives: Traditional Cities                | 32 |
| The Early City-States: Sumeria  | 33 |
| Other Ancient Cities  | 36 |
| Egypt   | 36 |
| Indus Valley  | 36 |
| Northern China  | 37 |
| Mesoamerican Cities   | 37 |
| Imperial Cities   | 38 |
| Box 2.3   | 39 |
| Rome's Contribution to Urban Development  | 42 |
| Cities as Engines of Economic Growth: Capitalism, Industrialism, and Urbanization | 43 |

x CONTENTS

|  |    |   |    |
|--|----|---|----|
| The New Trading Cities                   | 43 | Urbanization Processes                    | 69 |
| A Capitalist Economy                     | 43 | Urbanization Curves                       | 70 |
| Box 2.4                                  | 44 | Central Place Theory                      | 70 |
| The Revival of Urbanization              | 45 | Centrality                                | 71 |
| Northern Italy                           | 47 | Range of a Good                           | 71 |
| Northern Europe                          | 47 | Threshold                                 | 71 |
| Structure and Form of the Trading Cities | 47 | Hexagonal Trade Areas                     | 72 |
| Political and Economic Structure         | 47 | Rank-Size Rule                            | 72 |
| Spatial Form                             | 49 | Kondratiev Waves                          | 73 |
| Box 2.5                                  | 50 | Urban Growth in America                   | 74 |
| Industrial Cities                        | 51 | Meyer-Wyckoff Frontier Cities Model       | 74 |
| Box 2.6                                  | 52 | Vance Mercantile Cities Model             | 75 |
| Industrial Revolution                    | 52 | Contemporary Urban-Economic Restructuring | 76 |
| Changing Logic of City Location          | 54 | Empirical Examples                        | 76 |
| Elements of the Industrial City          | 56 | Box 3.2                                   | 78 |
| Wrapping Up                              | 56 | Amenities                                 | 80 |
| Readings                                 | 57 | Wrapping Up                               | 80 |

Readings 81

PART II: Metropolitan Systems

3 THE EVOLUTION OF THE AMERICAN URBAN SYSTEM 58

|  |    |
|--|----|
| The American Urban Hierarchy, 1630–2000                      | 59 |
| Colonial Imprints  | 59 |
| Early Development  | 59 |
| Shifts in the U.S. Urban Population                          | 62 |
| Metropolitan Dominance                                       | 63 |
| Box 3.1  | 64 |
| Pred's Model   | 66 |
| Urbanization and Industrialization among U.S.                |    |
| Urban Centers  | 67 |
| Borchert's Transport Epochs and American Metropolitan Growth | 67 |
| Horse and Wagon Epoch, 1790–1830                             | 68 |
| Regional Railroad Network Epoch, 1830–1870                   | 68 |
| National Railroad Network Epoch, 1870–1920                   | 68 |
| Automobile/Airplane Epoch, 1920–1960                         | 68 |

4 GLOBALIZATION AND THE URBAN SYSTEM 83

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| World Cities                               | 84  |
| World City Hierarchy                       | 84  |
| Changing Functions of World Cities         | 87  |
| Capitalism, Power, and World Cities        | 88  |
| Examples of World City Globalization       | 89  |
| World Cities and Wealth                    | 90  |
| U.S. Law Firms in World Cities             | 91  |
| Box 4.1                                    | 92  |
| International Engineering Services         | 93  |
| Interconnections among World Cities        | 94  |
| World City Tourism                         | 96  |
| New York and Los Angeles as Tourist Cities | 98  |
| The Impact of 9/11                         | 99  |
| Multinational Corporations                 | 99  |
| U.S. Multinational Corporations            | 101 |
| Sam Walton's Wal-Mart                      | 103 |
| World Banking                              | 106 |

|             |     |
|-------------|-----|
| Wrapping Up | 106 |
| Readings    | 108 |

5 TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND THE CITY 109

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| Box 5.1   | 110 |
| History of Computing and Development of the Internet              | 111 |
| Box 5.2   | 113 |
| Mainframe Computers   | 114 |
| Minicomputers to Personal Computers                               | 114 |
| Telecommunications: Geographical Dispersal or Concentration?      | 115 |
| Telecommunications and Geographic Dispersal                       | 115 |
| Telecommunications and Geographic Concentration                   | 116 |
| Front-Office Activities   | 116 |
| Universities and Geographic Concentration                         | 117 |
| Domain Names  | 117 |
| Web Sites and Geographic Concentration                            | 118 |
| The National and Global Fiber-Optic Network                       | 118 |
| Fiber-Optic Cables  | 119 |
| The Global Internet   | 119 |
| U.S. Internet Urban Links   | 121 |
| Overnight Information Flows                                       | 122 |
| Telecommunications and Urban Society                              | 125 |
| Telecommunications and the Transformation of Urban Space          | 126 |
| Telecommunications and Financial Markets                          | 127 |
| Telecommunications and Office Economies                           | 128 |
| Intrametropolitan Locations of Professional and Business Services | 128 |
| Intrametropolitan Fiber-Optic Loops                               | 129 |
| Wireless Telecommunications                                       | 130 |
| The Automobile as Wireless Internet Provider                      | 131 |

|             |     |
|-------------|-----|
| Box 5.3     | 132 |
| Wrapping Up | 133 |
| Readings    | 134 |

PART III: The Economic Landscape of the City

6 URBAN LAND USE: THE CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICT AND THE GROWTH OF THE SUBURBS 135

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| Central-City Decline  | 135 |
| CBD Centrality  | 136 |
| Development of Central Business Districts                             | 136 |
| The Decline of CBD Centrality and the Rise of Agglomeration Economies | 138 |
| CBD Agglomeration Linkages  | 139 |
| Traditional CBD Characteristics                                       | 140 |
| The CBD Core-Frame Concept  | 140 |
| Zones of CBD Assimilation and Discard                                 | 141 |
| Daytime vs. Nighttime CBD Populations                                 | 142 |
| Contemporary CBD Retailing  | 143 |
| CBD Redevelopment and Revitalization                                  | 144 |
| Packaging the Entrepreneurial CBD                                     | 145 |
| Contemporary CBD Activities   | 145 |
| Business and Professional Services in Atlanta                         | 146 |
| Models of Suburban Evolution in North American Metropolises           | 147 |
| Location Rent and Urban Land Use                                      | 147 |
| Land and Property Values  | 148 |
| Erickson's Model of the Evolution of the Suburban Space Economy       | 148 |
| Spillover and Specialization  | 150 |
| Dispersal and Diversification   | 150 |
| Infilling and Multinucleation   | 150 |
| The Hartshorn and Muller Model of Suburban Downtown                   | 151 |
| Sprawl  | 151 |
| Independence  | 151 |
| Magnets   | 152 |

xii CONTENTS

|  |            |  |            |
|--|------------|--|------------|
| High-Rise/High-Tech  | 153        | The Chicago School of Sociology  | 177        |
| Mature Town Center   | 153        | Box 8.1  | 178        |
| Wrapping Up  | 153        | Traditional Models of Urban Spatial Structure                              | 182        |
| Readings   | 154        | Burgess Concentric Zone Model  | 182        |
| 7 LANDSCAPES OF PRODUCTION                          | 155 | Hoyt Sector Model  | 183        |
| Understanding the Economies of Cities                      | 155        | Harris and Ullman Multiple Nuclei Model                                    | 184        |
| Basic and Nonbasic Economic Activities                     | 156        | More Complex Models  | 184        |
| Basic versus Nonbasic Activities                           | 156        | Social Area Analysis   | 185        |
| Multipliers  | 156        | Box 8.2  | 186        |
| Circular and Cumulative Causation                          | 157        | Factorial Ecology  | 187        |
| Box 7.1  | 158        | The Urban Mosaic   | 188        |
| Interurban Industrial Production and Location              | 159        | New Factors Organizing Urban Social Space: Globalization and Postmodernism | 188        |
| Growth Pole Model  | 159        | Globalization: General Trends  | 189        |
| Stanback Model   | 160        | Box 8.3  | 190        |
| Manufacturing versus Service Cities                        | 161        | Elements of the Global City  | 192        |
| The 1980s Rust Belt  | 162        | The Citadel  | 193        |
| Box 7.2  | 164        | The Enclave  | 193        |
| Recent Metropolitan Population Growth                      | 165        | The Ghetto   | 194        |
| Human Talent and the Location of High-Technology Industry  | 165        | “In Between” Neighborhoods in the Global City                              | 194        |
| Intraurban Industrial Production and Location              | 166        | The Gentrified City  | 194        |
| Wheeler-Park Model   | 166        | The Suburban City  | 195        |
| Product Cycle Model  | 168        | The Working Class City   | 195        |
| Political Economy Approaches                               | 170        | Postmodernism  | 196        |
| Basic Concepts   | 170        | Wrapping up  | 199        |
| Circuits of Capital  | 170        | Box 8.4  | 200        |
| Box 7.3  | 173        | Readings   | 202        |
| Wrapping Up  | 173        | 9 URBAN HOUSING MARKETS: SPRAWL, BLIGHT, AND REGENERATION           | 204 |
| Readings   | 173        | Basics of Housing and Housing Markets                                      | 204        |
| PART IV: The Social Landscape of the City           |            | Sectors of Housing Tenure  | 205        |
| 8 SLICING THE URBAN PIE: MODELS OF SOCIAL GEOGRAPHY | 175 | Housing as a Commodity   | 205        |
| Ecological Approach to Cities                              | 176        | Box 9.1  | 206        |
| “Community Lost”: European Perspectives on Cities          | 176        | Housing Demand   | 206        |
|  |            | Box 9.2  | 207        |
|  |            | Housing Supply   | 208        |

|  |     |   |            |
|--|-----|---|------------|
| Housing Market Geographies                     | 208 | 10 SEGREGATION, RACE, AND URBAN        |            |
| Urban Ecology and Housing Markets:             |     | POVERTY                                | 236 |
| Invasion and Succession                        | 208 | Current Patterns of Racial Residential        |            |
| Filtering and Vacancy Chains                   | 209 | Segregation                                   | 237        |
| Life-Cycle Notions of Neighborhood             |     | Census 2000 Figures                           | 237        |
| Change   | 210 | Black/White Patterns                          | 237        |
| Housing Market Realities: Ongoing Debates over |     | Box 10.1                                      | 238        |
| Equal Access to Housing                        | 211 | Hispanics and Asians                          | 240        |
| Real Estate Agents and Differentiated          |     | Recent Change                                 | 241        |
| Access   | 211 | Hypersegregation                              | 243        |
| Discrimination in Lending                      | 213 | What Causes Segregation?                      | 245        |
| Accumulated Impacts of Housing Market          |     | Race and the North American Ghetto            | 246        |
| Discrimination                                 | 215 | The "First" North American Ghetto             | 247        |
| Housing Market Realities: Government           |     | Dual Housing Markets, the "Color Line," and   |            |
| Involvement                                    | 215 | Ghettos                                       | 247        |
| Box 9.3  | 216 | Postwar Institutionalized Ghettos             | 249        |
| Securing Home Ownership through Loan           |     | Government-Supported Discrimination           | 249        |
| Guarantees                                     | 218 | Public Housing and Urban                      |            |
| A New System of Housing Finance: The           |     | Redevelopment                                 | 251        |
| Secondary Mortgage Market                      | 219 | Economic Transformations and the Outcast      |            |
| Box 9.4  | 220 | Ghetto  | 253        |
| Sprawl and the Suburbanization of              |     | Civil Rights                                  | 254        |
| Housing  | 221 | Deindustrialization and Globalization         | 254        |
| Antecedents and Preconditions of Post-World    |     | Box 10.2                                      | 255        |
| War II Suburban Sprawl                         | 222 | Social/Spatial Isolation and the "Underclass" |            |
| Postwar Sprawl                                 | 225 | Question                                      | 257        |
| Supply and Demand Factors                      | 225 | Poverty and The City                          | 257        |
| Sprawl and the Federal Government: Housing     |     | Cities as the Location of Poverty             | 257        |
| Finance  | 226 | Spatial Concentration of Urban Poverty        | 258        |
| Sprawl and the Federal Government:             |     | Relationship to Race                          | 258        |
| Automobiles and Interstate                     |     | Wilson/Massey/Jargowsky Debate                | 259        |
| Freeways                                       | 227 | Consequences of Concentrated Poverty:         |            |
| "Blight" and the Fate of Inner-City Housing    | 229 | The Neighborhood Effects Debate               | 259        |
| Blight and Growing Redevelopment               |     | Peer Effects                                  | 260        |
| Pressures                                      | 229 | Social Control                                | 260        |
| Housing Dynamics of Redevelopment              | 229 | Opportunities and Resources                   | 261        |
| Displacement and Public Housing                | 231 | Institutions, Schools, and Businesses         | 261        |
| Neighborhood Revitalization:                   |     | Stigma and Spatial Discrimination             | 262        |
| Gentrification                                 | 233 | Evidence and Debates                          | 262        |
| Wrapping Up                                    | 234 | Morality and Responsibility                   | 263        |
| Readings                                       | 234 |   |            |

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| Culture and Poverty versus Culture of Poverty  | 264        |
| Oppositional Culture/Culture of Segregation    | 264        |
| Responding to Urban Poverty                    | 265        |
| War on Poverty                                 | 265        |
| Retrenchment                                   | 266        |
| Welfare Reform                                 | 267        |
| Enterprise Zones                               | 267        |
| Moving to Opportunity/HOPE VI/ Homeownership   | 268        |
| Wrapping Up                                    | 268        |
| Readings                                       | 269        |
| 11 IMMIGRATION, ETHNICITY, AND URBANISM | 271 |
| The Era of Immigration and U.S. Urbanization   | 272        |
| The New Catholic Arrivals                      | 273        |
| Geography of Immigration                       | 273        |
| Box 11.1                                       | 274        |
| Differences in Urban Orientation               | 275        |
| Reception of Immigrants                        | 275        |
| Segregation Patterns                           | 277        |
| The New European Immigration                   | 277        |
| Urban Orientation of New Immigrants            | 278        |
| Neighborhood Locations                         | 279        |
| Box 11.2                                       | 280        |
| Segregation Patterns                           | 280        |
| Negative and Positive Impacts of Location      | 281        |
| The Ethnic Kaleidoscope of Today               | 283        |
| Immigration Legislation                        | 283        |
| Box 11.3                                       | 284        |
| Immigrant Patterns                             | 286        |
| Latino Migration and Its Impact on Cities      | 288        |
| Mexicans                                       | 290        |
| Urbanization Trends                            | 291        |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| Cubans   | 292 |
| Florida Concentration                                  | 292 |
| Puerto Ricans  | 293 |
| Spatial Patterns                                       | 293 |
| Box 11.4   | 294 |
| Latino Influences                                      | 296 |
| Significant Aspects                                    | 296 |
| New Asian Immigration                                  | 298 |
| Urban Orientation and Some Models of Asian Segregation | 299 |
| Asian Indians  | 301 |
| Indochinese  | 302 |
| Koreans  | 304 |
| Asian Influences                                       | 306 |
| Wrapping Up  | 306 |
| Readings   | 306 |

PART V: The Political Landscape of the City

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| 12 METROPOLITAN GOVERNANCE AND FRAGMENTATION | 309 |
| Urban Governance and the Growth of Services         | 310        |
| Expanding Urban Services                            | 310        |
| Safety  | 311        |
| Education   | 311        |
| Infrastructure                                      | 311        |
| Box 12.1  | 312        |
| Financing the City                                  | 315        |
| Who Governs the City?                               | 316        |
| Stages in Urban Governance                          | 317        |
| Elite Dominance                                     | 317        |
| Machine Politics                                    | 317        |
| Reform Politics                                     | 318        |
| Professional Politics                               | 318        |
| Power in the City                                   | 320        |
| Contemporary Fragmentation in the Metropolis        | 321        |
| Increasing Fragmentation                            | 322        |

|  |            |  |            |
|--|------------|--|------------|
| A Positive View of MetropolitanFragmentation           | 323        | Exclusionary Zoning of Class andRace         | 364        |
| Fiscal Disparities   | 325        | Growth Management                                | 365        |
| Box 12.2   | 328        | Wrapping Up                                      | 367        |
| Countering the Fragmented Metropolis                       | 329        | Readings   | 367        |
| Annexations  | 329        | PART VI: Cities Around the World          |            |
| Elastic Cities   | 329        | 14 CITIES IN THE DEVELOPEDWORLD      | 369 |
| City–County Consolidation                                  | 331        | Western European Cities                          | 369        |
| Metropolitan Government                                    | 332        | Urbanization and the European CitySystem     | 370        |
| Box 12.3   | 333        | Characteristic Features of European Cities       | 372        |
| Wrapping Up  | 334        | Density and Compactness                          | 372        |
| Readings   | 334        | Historical Legacy                                | 375        |
| 13 PLANNING THE BETTER CITY                         | 336 | Box 14.1   | 376        |
| Making the Case for Planning                               | 337        | Box 14.2   | 380        |
| Aesthetics   | 337        | Housing and Social Geography                     | 380        |
| Efficiency   | 338        | Aspects of Change                                | 384        |
| Social Equity Planning                                     | 339        | Changing Economic Circumstances                  | 384        |
| Maintaining Property Values                                | 342        | Changes in the Political and CulturalMilieu  | 386        |
| Environmental Protection                                   | 342        | Box 14.3   | 388        |
| Development of Modern Planning                             | 344        | Cities in Post-Communist Eastern Europe          | 388        |
| Visionaries and the Urban Ideal                            | 344        | Communist Urban Development                      | 389        |
| Ebenezer Howard and the Garden CityMovement            | 344        | Post-Communist Development                       | 390        |
| Le Corbusier's City of Towers                              | 344        | Cities in Japan                                  | 391        |
| Frank Lloyd Wright's BroadacreCity                     | 346        | Box 14.4   | 392        |
| Legal Basis for Planning                                   | 348        | Structure of Japanese Cities                     | 393        |
| Box 13.1   | 349        | Changes in Japanese Cities                       | 396        |
| Growth of Planning as a Profession in the UnitedStates | 350        | Wrapping Up                                      | 396        |
| Political Nature of Planning                               | 352        | Readings   | 397        |
| Comprehensive Plans and Tools of ModernPlanning        | 354        | 15 CITIES IN THE LESS DEVELOPEDWORLD | 399 |
| Box 13.2   | 355        | The New Urban Majority                           | 399        |
| Elements and Steps in Comprehensive PlanDevelopment    | 356        | How the Cities Have Grown                        | 400        |
| Zoning   | 358        | Demographic Factors Involved in UrbanGrowth  | 402        |
| Problems with Zoning and Responses                         | 360        | Natural Increase                                 | 402        |
| Effect of Zoning On Community                              | 360        |  |            |

xvi CONTENTS

|   |            |  |            |
|---|------------|--|------------|
| Urbanization Curve                        | 403        | Themes of City Life                      | 431        |
| Box 15.1                                  | 404        | Spatial Layout                           | 434        |
| Primacy                                   | 404        | Sub-Saharan African Cities               | 436        |
| Box 15.2                                  | 406        | Indigenous Influences                    | 437        |
| Origins of Third World Urbanization       | 407        | European Intervention                    | 438        |
| Modernization Perspective                 | 407        | Modern African Cities                    | 439        |
| International Political Economy           |            | Box 16.1                                 | 440        |
| Perspective                               | 409        | South Asian Cities                       | 442        |
| Colonialism                               | 410        | A Typology of South Asian Cities         | 443        |
| Economic Disparity                        | 412        | Modern Challenges                        | 446        |
| Urban Bias                                | 414        | Southeast Asian Cities                   | 448        |
| Characteristics of Third World Cities     | 415        | Indigenous Influences: Sacred and Market |            |
| Effects of Growth                         | 415        | Cities                                   | 448        |
| Housing                                   | 417        | The Colonial City in Southeast Asia      | 450        |
| Public-Sector Housing                     | 417        | Locational Aspects                       | 450        |
| Commercial Private-Sector Housing         | 419        | The Dualistic form of the City           | 451        |
| Box 15.3                                  | 420        | Chinese Population                       | 451        |
| Self-Help Housing                         | 421        | Box 16.2                                 | 452        |
| Employment Opportunities and the Informal |            | Modern Cities                            | 453        |
| Sector                                    | 423        | Problems of Development                  | 454        |
| Formal Sector                             | 423        | Prosperity and Urban Form                | 455        |
| Informal Sector                           | 424        | Wrapping Up                              | 456        |
| Wrapping Up                               | 426        | Box 16.3                                 | 457        |
| Readings                                  | 426        | Box 16.4                                 | 458        |
|   |            | Readings                                 | 458        |
| 16 REGIONAL VARIATIONS IN URBAN    |            |  |            |
| STRUCTURE AND FORM                 | 428 | Credits                           | 461 |
| The Latin American City                   | 429        | Photo Credits                     | 465 |
| Colonial Legacies                         | 430        | Index                             | 467 |
| Modern Latin American Cities              | 431        |  |            |