

Seminar Proceedings No. 30

INDUCING FOOD INSECURITY

PERSPECTIVES ON FOOD POLICIES IN EASTERN AND SOUTHERN AFRICA

Edited by
M.A. Mohamed Salih

Nordiska Afrikainstitutet, Uppsala 1994

Contents

Acknowledgements	5
Food Insecurity Inducing Policies Eastern and Southern African Perspectives An Introduction M.A. Mohamed Salih	7
Food Security in Eastern and Southern Africa Siddig A. Salih	22
On Alternative Food Policies for Africa Results from the Sudan Ali Abdel Gadir Ali	47
Alternative Food Policies and Zimbabwe's Uneven Development Jessimen T. Chipika and Stephen Chipika	67
Resource-Base, Food Policies and Food Security Eritrea Case Study Wolde Amlak Araia, Mohamed Kheir Omer, Adugna Haile and Woldeselassie Ogbazghi	84
Food Supply and Economic Sustainability in Urban Areas A lesson from Tanzania Mogens Holm	104
Food Security in Botswana Jan Hesselberg	120

Too Many Assumptions Researching Grain Markets in Tanzania Deborah Fahy Bryceson	145
Integration of Population Dynamics and Environmental Change in Agricultural Development Policies The Soil Erosion and Soil Conservation Issue in Uganda Tadesse Zerihun	164
Towards Sustainable Agriculture in African Drylands and Integrated Agro-Ecosystems Eric C. Quaye	180
The Relevance of Indigenous Systems of Production to Food Policies A Horn of Africa Perspective Abdel Ghaffar M. Ahmed	204
From Telling People to Listening to Them Changes in Approaches to the Development and Welfare of Pastoral Peoples P.T.W. Baxter	217
Notes on Contributors	234