

Wringing Success from Failure in Late- Developing Countries

Lessons from the Field

Joseph F. Stepanek

PRAEGER

Westport, Connecticut
London

Contents

| | |
|--|-----|
| Tables | ix |
| Preface | xi |
| Acknowledgments | xv |
| 1. Poor People in a Poor World | 1 |
| 2. Washington's AID Program | 21 |
| 3. Why Asia Is Developing and Africa Is Not | 37 |
| 4. Bangladesh Grows Its Own Food | 63 |
| 5. Creating African Ownership with an Aid Presence | 89 |
| 6. Agriculture Is Africa's First Source of Growth | 107 |
| 7. Investment for Africa's Development | 133 |
| 8. African Development Requires Democracy | 157 |
| 9. Master of Their Own House: African Training and Western Advice | 191 |
| 10. Endorsing Development in the Poor World | 217 |
| Bibliography | 237 |
| Index | 243 |