

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY
HISTORICAL STUDIES IN IRISH SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY
NUMBER FOUR

Sheets of Many Colours

The Mapping of Ireland's rocks
1750-1890

GORDON L. HERRIES DAVIES

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY
1983

CONTENTS

	Page
Foreword	v
Preface	vii
Contents	ix
List of Plates	xi
List of Figures	xi
Abbreviations	xii
1. PIONEERS IN THE FIELD, 1750-1814	1
The Physico-Historical Society of Ireland	1
William Hamilton and the Antrim basalts	4
Geology and the Dublin Society	5
Robert Fraser's County Wicklow	8
William Tighe's County Kilkenny	10
George Vaughan Sampson's County Londonderry	13
Horatio Townsend's County Cork	15
Richard Kirwan's proposed Mining Board	17
Walter Stephens's central Leinster	18
The Bog Commissioners and their maps	20
The Dublin Society and the Leinster coalfield survey	21
Ireland and the Geological Society of London	27
2. THE GENESIS OF GRIFFITH'S MAP, 1809-1830	35
Griffith's early years	35
The map in vision	38
New regional surveys	40
Griffith and the base-map problem	44
The lean years	46
Griffith's earliest rivals	51
3. GRIFFITH'S UNOFFICIAL SURVEY, 1830-1857	57
The Valuation Survey	57
The Railway Commission	61
A cartographic masterpiece	64
The map's later history	72
Who made 'Griffith's Map'?	77
4. ORDNANCE SURVEY GEOLOGY, 1824-1845	85
Colby's strategy	85
Colby's first defeat	92
The Colonel's second sally	95
The memoir in its heyday	99
Portlock's Londonderry Report	104
Captain James takes over	106
Griffith creates a diversion	115
Colby quits the field	118

5.	A NEW SURVEY BREAKS GROUND, 1845-1850	126
	A team is chosen	127
	Mapping begins	132
	Exit James	137
	De La Beche's new broom	138
	Oldham sets to work	141
	The Survey's first publications	149
	Exit Oldham	152
6.	YEARS OF GREAT ACHIEVEMENT, 1850-1869	156
	Joseph Beete Jukes	156
	Conflict over scales	160
	Jukes's mapping programme	162
	Administrative changes	167
	The one-inch sheets	170
	The memoirs	172
	Geological problems	181
	Personal problems	184
	The death of Jukes	190
7.	THE TASK COMPLETED, 1869-1890	195
	The new Director	196
	The players in the final act	198
	Fresh scenery	205
	Old scenery revisited	208
	War in the wings	216
	The curtain falls	222
	Epilogue	232
	Index	233