

Hermann von Helmholtz

Science and Culture

Popular and Philosophical Essays

Edited and with an Introduction by

DAVID CAHAN

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS

Chicago and London

Contents

Introduction	vii
Selected Further Readings	xvii
1. On Goethe's Scientific Researches (1853)	1
2. On the Interaction of the Natural Forces (1854)	18
3. On the Physiological Causes of Harmony in Music (1857)	46
4. On the Relation of Natural Science to Science in General (1862)	76
5. On the Conservation of Force (1862-63)	96
6. The Recent Progress of the Theory of Vision (1868)	127
7. On the Aim and Progress of Physical Science (1869)	204
8. On the Origin and Significance of Geometrical Axioms (1870)	226
9. On the Origin of the Planetary System (1871)	249
10. On the Relation of Optics to Painting (1871)	279
11. On Thought in Medicine (1877)	309
12. On Academic Freedom in German Universities (1877)	328
13. The Facts in Perception (1878)	342
14. Hermann von Helmholtz. An Autobiographical Sketch (1891)	381
15. Goethe's Presentiments of Coming Scientific Ideas (1892)	393
Index	413