

---

FEMINIST CRITICISM — AND — SOCIAL CHANGE

---

SEX, CLASS AND RACE
IN LITERATURE AND CULTURE

Edited by Judith Newton and Deborah Rosenfelt

METHUEN
New York and London

---

CONTENTS

---

Contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Preface	xi
Introduction: toward a materialist-feminist criticism JUDITH NEWTON AND DEBORAH ROSENFELT	xv
 Part 1 Theory
1 Toward a black feminist criticism BARBARA SMITH	3
2 Race and gender in the shaping of the American literary canon: a case study from the twenties PAUL LAUTER	19
3 Constructing the subject: deconstructing the text CATHERINE BELSEY	45
4 Ideology and the cultural production of gender MICHELE BARRETT	65
5 Writing the body: toward an understanding of l'écriture féminine ANN ROSALIND JONES	86
 Part 2 Applied criticism
6 Villette JUDITH NEWTON	105
7 Aurora Leigh CORA KAPLAN	134
8 Inverts and experts: Radclyffe Hall and the lesbian identity SONJA RUEHL	165
9 Shadows uplifted BARBARA CHRISTIAN	181

10	From the thirties: Tillie Olsen and the radical tradition DEBORAH ROSENFELT	216
11	Romance in the age of electronics: Harlequin Enterprises LESLIE W. RABINE	249
12	Real women ANNETTE KUHN	268
	Index	287