

RELIGION and POLITICAL CONFLICT
in SOUTH ASIA

India, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka

Edited by DOUGLAS ALLEN

Contributions to the Study of Religion, Number 34
HENRY WARNER BOWDEN, Series Editor

GREENWOOD PRESS

Westport, Connecticut • London

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
Introduction
Douglas Allen	1
I. India	15
1. Hinduism, Social Inequality, and the State
Gail Omvedt	17
2. Untouchables, Religion, and Politics: The Changing Face of Struggle
Barbara R. Joshi	37
3. Indian Muslims in a Contemporary Multi-Religious Society
Ashgar Ali Engineer	55
II. Pakistan	67
4. Religion, Ethnicity, and State Power in Pakistan: The Question of Class
Hassan N. Gardezi	69
5. Discourses on Gender in Pakistan: Convergence and Contradiction
Shahnaz Rouse	87

vi	Contents
6.	Islamization, Civil Society, and the Politics of Transition in Pakistan Mustapha Kamal Pasha	113
III.	Sri Lanka	133
7.	Duṭṭhagāmaṇī and the Buddhist Conscience Gananath Obeyesekere	135
8.	Some Aspects of Religious and Cultural Identity and the Construction of Sinhala Buddhist Womanhood Kumari Jayawardena	161
9.	Religious-Political Conflict in Sri Lanka: Philosophical Considerations Douglas Allen	181
	Bibliography	205
	Index	217
	Contributors	229