

ABSORBING PERFECTIONS

KABBALAH AND INTERPRETATION

MOSHE IDEL

FOREWORD BY

HAROLD BLOOM

YALE UNIVERSITY PRESS / NEW HAVEN & LONDON

CONTENTS

Foreword, by Harold Bloom	ix
Preface	xv
Introduction	i
1. The World-Absorbing Text	26
2. The God-Absorbing Text: Black Fire on White Fire	45
3. Text and Interpretation Infinities in Kabbalah	80

4. The Book That Contains and Maintains All	111
5. Magical and Magical-Mystical Arcanizations of Canonical Books	137
6. Torah Study and Mystical Experiences in Jewish Mysticism	164
7. Secrecy, Binah, and Derishah	202
8. Semantics, Constellation, and Interpretation	221
9. Radical Forms of Jewish Hermeneutics	250
10. The Symbolic Mode in Theosophical-Theurgical Kabbalah	272
11. Allegories, Divine Names, and Experiences in Ecstatic Kabbalah	314
12. Tzerufei 'Otiyyot: Mutability and Accommodation of the Torah in Jewish Mysticism	352
13. Tradition, Transmission, and Techniques	390
14. Concluding Remarks	410
Appendix 1 Pardes: The Fourfold Method of Interpretation	429
Appendix 2 Abraham Abulafia's Torah of Blood and Ink	438
Appendix 3 R. Isaac of Acre's Exegetical Quandary	449
Appendix 4 The Exile of the Torah and the Imprisonment of Secrets	461
Appendix 5 On Oral Torah and Multiple Interpretations in Hasidism	470
Appendix 6 "Book of God"/"Book of Law" in Late-Fifteenth-Century Florence	482
Notes	493
Bibliography	619
Index	647