

Socialism and Self-Reliance in Tanzania

Kimse A.B. Okoko

KPI

London and New York

In association with the University of Port Harcourt Press

Contents

1	Introduction	1
2	Socialism and Self-Reliance in Tanzania:
	A Theoretical Overview	11
	'Social Class' in Tanzania	26
3	On Implementing Socialism and Self-Reliance:
	The Role of Education and Political Socialization	41
	The Colonial Education System	42
	The Early Post-Independence Period	46
	Post-Arusha Educational System 1967-72: Education for Self-Reliance	58
	Problems in Implementing 'Education for Self-Reliance'	63
	Aims and Objectives of Adult Education in Tanzania	68
4	On Socialism in Rural Tanzania:
	The Policy and Implementation of Ujamaa Vijijini	83
	Early Post-Independence Attempts at Rural Development	87
	The Improvement Approach	88
	The Transformation Approach	89
	Ujamaa villages	95
	An Assessment of the Development of the Ujamaa Programme During the Period of Study: Progress and Problems	102
5	The Role of the National Development Corporation in Building a Socialist and Self-Reliant Tanzania	126
	The Arusha Declaration and a National Industrial Strategy	128
	The NDC and Socialist Industrial Development: The Historical Setting	133
	The NDC and Industrial Development	135
	The Problem of Objectives	136
	The Problem of Investment Policies	140
	The Problem of Management	152

6 Socialism and Self-Reliance: An International Dimension	168
Section I: Foreign Aid	169
The Project Approach	174
The Programme Approach	176
The Setting	177
Post-Arusha Foreign Aid	182
Section II: A Comparative Experience	199
Industry versus Agriculture	203
On Agricultural Collectivization or Villagization	206
On Education	208
The Use of Foreign Aid	209
7 Conclusion	216
An Alternative Future Policy Option for Tanzania's Development Efforts	226
APPENDICES
Appendix A: Regions in Tanzania	229
Appendix B: Enrolments at Different Levels of Education in Public Institutions 1963-1972	230
Appendix C: Value, Volume and Price Trends of Six Major Agricultural Exports of Tanzania (Mainland) 1965-1975	232
Appendix D: Gross Domestic Product by Industrial Origin, 1967-1975	234
Appendix E: Disbursements of External Public and Publicly Guaranteed Debt, 1967-1975	236
Appendix F: Commitments of External Public Loans and Grants by Sources, 1967-1975	238
Selected Bibliography	240
Index	256