

INTERPERSONAL DYNAMICS IN SECOND LANGUAGE EDUCATION

THE VISIBLE AND INVISIBLE CLASSROOM

MADÉLINE E. EHRMAN
ZOLTÁN DÖRNYEI

SAGE Publications

International Educational and Professional Publisher

Thousand Oaks London New Delhi

Contents

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xix
1. Basic Concepts and Approaches	1
1.1 Psychological Approaches to Understanding Second Language Learning	1
1.2 Group Dynamics and Interpersonal Processes	5
1.3 Sources of Our Models	6
1.4 Basic Concepts	10
1.5 Multiple Perspectives	13
1.6 Psychotherapy and Education	16
Terms Introduced in This Chapter	20
2. Within the Individual: Intrapersonal Processes	22
2.1 Theories	22
2.2 Defense Mechanisms	28
2.3 Individual Differences	35
2.4 Object Relations Concepts	39
Terms Introduced in This Chapter	41
3. Between Individuals: Interpersonal Processes	45
3.1 Humanistic Factors	45
3.2 Concepts From Social Psychology	51
3.3 Psychoanalytic Constructs	59
3.4 Object Relations Constructs	63
Terms Introduced in This Chapter	66

4. Among People: The Group	69
4.1 Among People	69
4.2 What Is a Group?	70
4.3 Important Processes in the Invisible Group	77
4.4 The Individual and the Group	84
4.5 The Context of the Group	87
Terms Introduced in This Chapter	97
5. Group Development: General Features and Group Formation	99
5.1 Group Development	99
5.2 The Development of Classroom Groups	107
5.3 Group Formation	110
Terms Introduced in This Chapter	124
6. Group Development: Transition, Performing, and Dissolution	126
6.1 The Transition Stage	126
6.2 Performing	135
6.3 Dissolution	151
Terms Introduced in This Chapter	153
7. Group Leadership	154
7.1 Conceptualizing Leadership and Leaders	154
7.2 Effective Leadership and Successful Leadership	164
7.3 Interactional Models of Leadership	167
7.4 Leadership Functions and Group Development	171
7.5 Leadership in the Invisible Group	174
7.6 Group Members as Leaders: Emergent Leadership	177
Terms Introduced in This Chapter	180
8. Lessons From the World of Psychotherapy	182
8.1 Interpersonal Dimensions of Change	182
8.2 Unconscious Dimensions of Student-Teacher Relations	188
8.3 Applying the Lessons in the Classroom	195
Terms Introduced in This Chapter	208
9. Lessons for the Teacher	211
9.1 The Teacher	212
9.2 Important Teacher Roles	222
9.3 The Teacher as Leader	228
9.4 Teacher Control and Learner Autonomy	233
9.5 Promoting Group Development	235
Terms Introduced in This Chapter	243

10. Cooperative Learning	245
10.1 The Main Principles of Cooperative Learning	247
10.2 Types of Cooperative Learning	249
10.3 Cooperative Learning and Productivity	250
10.4 Practical Suggestions on Preparing Learners for Cooperation	261
10.5 Some Complications in Cooperative Learning and Effects on the Teacher's Role	266
Terms Introduced in This Chapter	268
Afterword	270
 Appendix A: Glossary of Terms	 272
Appendix B: Projective Identification	285
Appendix C: Vaillant's Hierarchy of Defense Mechanisms	287
Appendix D: Examples of Defense Mechanisms	290
Appendix E: Managing the Classroom Space	293
 References	 297
 Index	 313
 About the Authors	 329