

Mario Esposito

---

Irish Books and Learning in Mediaeval Europe

---

Edited by Michael Lapidge

VARIORUM

CONTENTS

|                                                                                                                                                           |         |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| Foreword                                                                                                                                                  | vii-x   |
| Acknowledgements                                                                                                                                          | xi      |
| I      Hiberno-Latin Manuscripts in the Librariesof Switzerland, IProceedings of the Royal Irish Academy, XXVIII C.Dublin, 1910 | 62-95   |
| II     Hiberno-Latin Manuscripts in the Librariesof Switzerland, IIProceedings of the Royal Irish Academy, XXX C.Dublin, 1912   | 1-14    |
| III    Notes on Hiberno-Latin Manuscripts in BelgianLibrariesArchivium Hibernicum, III.Maynooth, Dublin, 1914                   | 203-209 |
| IV    On the New Edition of the OperaSancti ColumbaniClassica &amp; Mediaevalia, XXI.Copenhagen, 1960             | 184-203 |
| V     Dicuil: An Irish Monk in the Ninth CenturyThe Dublin Review, CXXXVII.Dublin, 1905                                             | 327-337 |
| VI    An Irish Teacher at the Carolingian Court:DicuilStudies, III.Dublin, 1914                                                 | 651-676 |
| VII   An Unpublished Astronomical Treatiseby the Irish Monk DicuilProceedings of the Royal Irish Academy, XXVI C.Dublin, 1907   | 378-446 |
| VIII  A Ninth-Century Astronomical TreatiseModern Philology, XVIII.Chicago, 1920-21                                                 | 177-188 |

|      |                                                                                                                                                               |         |
|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| IX   | The Poems of Colmanus 'Nepos Cracavist'and Dungalus 'Praecipuus Scottorum'Journal of Theological Studies, XXXIII.Oxford, 1932       | 113-131 |
| X    | Priscianus Lydus and Johannes ScottusClassical Review, XXXII.London and Boston, Mass., 1918                                             | 21-23   |
| XI   | A Ninth-Century Commentary on DonatusThe Classical Quarterly, XI.London and Boston, Mass., 1917                                         | 94-97   |
| XII  | Note on a Ninth-Century Commentaryon Martianus CapellaZeitschrift für celtische Philologie, VII.Halle, 1910                         | 499-507 |
| XIII | Irish Commentaries on Martianus CapellaZeitschrift für celtische Philologie, IX.Halle, 1913                                             | 159-163 |
| XIV  | Sur le prétendu commentaire de Dunchadsur Marcién CapellaDidaskaleion. Studi filologici di letteraturacristiana antica, III. Torino, 1914 | 173-181 |
| XV   | Conchubrani Vita S. MonennaeProceedings of the Royal Irish Academy, XXVIII C.Dublin, 1910                                               | 202-251 |
| XVI  | The Sources of Conchubranus'Life of St MonennaEnglish Historical Review, XXXV.London, 1920                                          | 71-78   |
|      | Index of Manuscripts                                                                                                                                          | 1-3     |
|      | General Index                                                                                                                                                 | 4-9     |

|                                        |
|----------------------------------------|
| This volume contains xiii + 320 pages. |
|----------------------------------------|