

Social Change in Brazil, 1945–1985

The Incomplete Transition

Edited by Edmar L. Bacha
and
Herbert S. Klein

University of New Mexico Press
Albuquerque

CONTENTS

Tables	viii
Introduction
Edmar L. Bacha and Herbert S. Klein	1
1. Population since 1945 Thomas J. Merrick	15
2. Rural Economy and Society David Goodman	49
3. Urbanization since 1945 Martin T. Katzman	99
4. Changes in the Composition of Employment and the Structure of Occupations Vilmar Faria	141
5. Inequality and Social Mobility: Ten Years Later José Pastore	171
6. Poverty and Prosperity: What is Changing? Helga Hoffman	197
7. Social Welfare Maurício C. Coutinho and Cláudio Salm	233
8. What is Happening in Brazilian Education? Cláudio de Moura Castro	263
9. Health and Health Care since the 1940s William P. McGreevey, Sérgio Piola, and Solon Magalhães Vianna	311
Note on Contributors	345

TABLES

1 Comparative Indices of Growth and Welfare: Asia and Brazil	7
1.1 Post-War Population Trends in Brazil	16
1.2 Life Expectancy and Infant Mortality	18
1.3 Mortality by Region	20
1.4 Estimated Probability of Death by Age Two	20
1.5 Total Fertility Rate	25
1.6 Mean Age at First Birth by Family Income	26
1.7 Proximate Determinants of Total Fertility	28
1.8 Contraceptive Use by Married Women	31
1.9 Distribution of Women by Marital Status by Age	34
1.10 Percentage Distribution of Brazil's Population by Region	36
1.11 Population Increase by Region	38
1.12 Distribution of Urban Population	39
2.1 Distribution of Rural Population	65
2.2 Absolute Change and Annual Growth Rates of Rural Population	66
2.3 Distribution of the Area in Farms	67
2.4 Absolute Change and Growth Rates of the Area in Crops	68
2.5 Distribution of Farm Establishments by Number and Area	70
3.1 Urban Population of Brazil	102
3.2 Sectoral Employment—Nonagricultural	103
3.3 Annual Percentage of Growth of employment in Manufacturing and Services	105
3.4 Determinants of Small Towns and Their Populations	110
3.5 Concentration of the Brazilian Population in Metropolitan São Paulo and Rio	112
3.6 Distribution of Urban Population and Growth by City Sizes	113
4.1 Structural Indicators of the Profile of Brazilian Society	144
4.2 Average Annual Rates of Growth of Industrial Production and Civil Construction	148
4.3 Distribution of the Economically Active Population	149
4.4 New Jobs Created	151
4.5 Rate of Growth of the Total Population by Age and Sectors	153
4.6 Rates of Growth of Employment by Sector	154
4.7 Persons Employed in Sectors and Subsectors	155
4.8 Growth in the Economically Active Population	157
4.9 Concentration of the Economically Active Population	158
4.10 Rate of Growth of the Total and Female Population	158
4.11 Predominantly Female Occupations	159
4.12 Skilled Non-Manual Occupations	161

4.13 Level of Formalization in Metropolitan Regions	166
4.14 Metropolitan Economy of Rio and São Paulo	167
4.15 Secondary Occupations and Employment Opportunities	169
5.1 Occupational Matrix of Intergenerational Mobility	174
5.2 Matrix of Intragenerational Occupational Mobility	175
5.3 Number of New Jobs Created and Annual Rates of Growth, 1920–1970	177
5.4 Changes in the Economically Active Population	178
5.5 Age of Entrance into the Labor Force	179
5.6 Age of Entrance into the Labor Force and Current Occupational Status	179
5.7 Education and Initial Occupational Status	181
5.8 Education and Current Occupational Status	181
5.9 Number of New Jobs Created and Annual Rates of Growth, 1970–1980	183
5.10 Utilization of the Urban Labor Force	183
5.11 Indice of Employment in Selected Metropolitan Regions	185
5.12 Number of Jobs Generated by the Production of Alcohol	188
6.1 Income Distribution of Economically Active Persons	202
6.2 Distribution of Families according to Family Income	204
6.3 Distribution of Families according to Family Income	204
6.4 Percentage of Families according to the Number of Members with Income	205
6.5 Percentage of Total Area Covered by the 5 Percent Largest Agricultural Establishments	211
6.6 Distribution of Families according to their Monthly Family Income, 1970	215
6.7 Distribution of Families according to their Monthly Family Income, 1980	216
6.8 Poverty among Families, 1970	217
6.9 Poverty among Families, 1980	217
6.10 Poverty among Families, 1980	218
6.11 Selected Indicators of the Quality of Life	219
6.12 Earnings and Poverty of People	220
6.13 Earnings and Poverty of People	220
6.14 Earnings and Poverty of People	221
6.15 Evolution of Poverty among Families, 1980–1985	225
7.1 Number of Contributors to Social Security	245
7.2 Contributors to Social Security	245
7.3 Non-Working Individuals Insured by Social Security	246
7.4 Inpatient Care and Outpatient Consultations	246

7.5 Expenses Versus Receipts for Social Security	254
7.6 Expenditures in Benefits and Social Assistance	256
7.7 Urban Social Security, Types of Continuous Payment Benefits	258
7.8 Urban Social Security, Kinds of Pensions	259
8.1 Enrollment and Percent Growth at all Levels of Education	265
8.2 Literacy Rates	266
8.3 Highest Schooling Attained	268
8.4 Reading Comprehension and Science Test Scores	269
9.1 Trends in Total Health-Care Spending	312
9.2 Preventive and Curative Shares of Health Expenditures	314
9.3 Percentage Distribution in Five Major Regions	317
9.4 Federal Direct Expenditure Per Capita, 1975	318
9.5 Expected Gain in Average Length of Life from Eliminating Causes of Death	320
9.6 Expenditures by Region	321
9.7 Paid Hospitalization	321
9.8 Doctor's Income in Relation to GDP	326