

THE HISTORICAL METHOD OF FLAVIUS JOSEPHUS

BY

PERE VILLALBA I VARNEDA

LEIDEN
E. J. BRILL
1986

CONTENTS

Presentació.....	IX
Preface	XIII
Status quaestionis.....	XVII
Abbreviations	XXII
 I. The theory of historical cause	 1
Precedents	1
A. The concept of historical cause in Flavius Josephus: αἰτία (p. 7), ἀφορμή (p. 8), πρόφασις (p. 9), ἀρχή (p. 11)	5
B. The aetiological question on the human plane: 1. The fall of Jerusalem	12
2. The wars of the people of Israel	19
3. The historical subject as cause.....	24
C. The aetiological question on the transcendent plane: 1. Diversity of the transcendent concept in Flavius Jo- sephus (ἀλάστωρ / ἀλαστορία, ἀνάγκη, αὐτόματος, δαι- μόνιον / δαιμόνιος / δαίμων, δεισιδαιμονία, fatum, τύχη, τὸ χρεών)	40
2. Events mysterious in nature	60
3. Biblical God and historical event.....	62
 II. Ars narrandi.....	 64
Precedents	64
A. Historiographic elements: 1. Historical personalities	69
2. The speeches.....	89
Precedents	89
a. Direct speeches in the Bellum Judaicum	92
b. Direct speeches in the Antiquitates Judaicae	106
c. Indirect speeches in the Bellum Judaicum	111
d. Indirect speeches in the Antiquitates Judaicae	113
e. Mixed styles.....	115
3. Chronology	118
4. Geography	121
5. The Institutions	124

6. Archaeology	127
7. Wars	135
B. Historical narrative:
1. The narrative thread	157
2. Diosis	163
3. Ecphrasis	169
4. Historical anticipation	180
The personal elements in Flavius Josephus:
1. Paradox and reason	188
2. Ethical and philosophical reflexions	196
3. Eulogy and censure	200
4. Proems and epilogues	203
Precedents	204
a. The proems	208
b. The epilogues	214
5. Historiographic pointers	217
6. Novelistic elements	219
7. History and drama	235
III. Conclusions: The methodology of Flavius Josephus	242
Precedents	242
A. Pragmatic history	251
B. Historiographic explanation	257
C. Apodictic history	263
D. Use of sources	266
E. Historiographic attitude and impartiality	272
Bibliography	280
General Index	287
Index of Greek Words	296