
Strategic Pragmatism

The Culture of Singapore's Economic Development Board

Edgar H. Schein

The MIT Press
Cambridge, Massachusetts
London, England

Contents

Foreword, by Lester Thurow vii

Preface xi

1

Singapore's Economic Development Board—
Three Perspectives 1

I

The EDB's Perspective on Itself: Historical and Cultural Legacies 27

2

Some Historical Roots of the EDB Culture 29

3

Variations on a Theme: The Major Strategic Eras 45

4

The Founding Chairman: Hon Sui Sen (1961–1968) 59

5

The Deal Makers: I. F. Tang and Chan Chin Bock 71

6

Building and Consolidating: Ngiam Tong Dow and
P. Y. Hwang 87

7

Redefinition and Renewal: The EDB under Philip Yeo 99

II

The EDB from a Client/Investor Perspective 115

8

The EDB as Perceived by U.S. Investors 117

9

European and Asian Client Perspectives 143

III

The EDB Culture from an Analytic Perspective 157

10

The Core Assumptions of the EDB's Cultural Context 159

11

The Cultural Paradigm of the Organization: Assumptions about Organization and Management in the EDB 179

IV

Problems, Issues, and Lessons 203

12

Problems and Issues: The Contextual Culture 205

13

Problems, Issues, and Opportunities in the EDB's Operational and Managerial Culture 225

14

Lessons and Conclusions 235

Appendix: List of People Interviewed 253

Notes 257

References 263

Index 267