

MUSIC IN THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY

LORENZO BIANCONI

TRANSLATED BY DAVID BRYANT

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

CAMBRIDGE

NEW YORK NEW ROCHELLE MELBOURNE SYDNEY

Contents

Author's preface to the English edition	page vii
Italian versification: a note by Steven Botterill	xi
I. THE EARLY DECADES	1
1 The seventeenth-century madrigal	1
2 Giovan Battista Marino and the poesia per musica	7
3 Music for solo voice	14
4 Claudio Monteverdi before 1620	21
5 The 'crisis' of the seventeenth century	28
6 'Concerto'	33
7 Monteverdi after 1620	36
II. PROBLEMS OF SEVENTEENTH-CENTURY MUSIC	45
8 The classification of styles	45
9 Scientific thought and musical theory	51
10 Theory and practice	57
11 Musical publicity	65
12 Music publishing and music collecting	73
13 Social condition of the musician	82
14 Instrumental and dance music	91
III. SACRED VOCAL MUSIC	105
15 Music in the Catholic liturgy	105
16 Catholic devotional music	119
17 The music of the Lutheran Church: Heinrich Schütz	133
18 Sacred music as music of State: France and England	147
IV. OPERA	161
19 The historiography of opera	161
20 Opera before 1637	170
21 The Venetian theatres	180

Contents

22	The diffusion of opera in Italy	190
23	Formal and dramatic convention; the lament	204
24	Opera in German-speaking lands: Vienna and Hamburg	220
25	The tragédie lyrique : Jean-Baptiste Lully	237
26	Theatrical music in England and Spain	252
SOURCE READINGS		265
1	A musical banquet: Florence, 1608	265
2	A court ballet: Turin, 1620	271
3	The social and intellectual condition of the musician: Antonio Maria Abbatini	285
4	Historical and stylistic awareness: Heinrich Schütz	292
5	Celestial music and poetic topoi: Ode on the death of Henry Purcell	300
6	The impresarial organization of Venetian theatres: Cristoforo Ivanovich	302
7	Dramaturgy of opera: Barthold Feind	311
Bibliography		327
Index		337