

Comparative Factory Organisation

An Anglo-German Comparison of Manufacturing,
Management and Manpower

ARNDT SORGE

International Institute of Management,
Wissenschaftszentrum, Berlin

AND

MALCOLM WARNER

Henley: The Management College and
Brunei: The University of West London

WZB-Publications
WISSENSCHAFTSZENTRUM BERLIN

EDITORIAL BOARD

Karl W. Deutsch

Meinolf Dierkes

Frieder Naschold

Egon Matzner

Udo E. Simonis

Gower

Contents

Preface	vi
Acknowledgements	viii
PART I THE CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK
1 Introduction	3
2 Culture and organisation	7
3 Approaches of cross-national comparative studies	37
PART II THE EARLIER PHASE
4 Research method and units of analysis	49
5 Shape of organisations	58
6 Functional differentiation and integration mechanisms	81
7 Industrial relations	103
8 Manpower recruitment and training	109
9 An intermediate summary	124
PART III THE LATER PHASE
10 The issue of new technology, employment and organisation work	129
11 Organisation of work with CNC machines	141
12 Societal implications of technical change and work skills	165
PART IV UNDERSTANDING CONTINUITY AND CHANGE
13 A socio-historical explanation	183
14 Anglo-German contrasts in a nutshell: a thought experiment	203
Bibliography	209
Notes on the authors	220
Author index	221
Subject index	224