

Urban Policy Problems

Federal Policy and Institutional Change

Edited by
Mark S. Rosentraub

Published in Cooperation with the Policy
Studies Organization

PRAEGER

PRAEGER SPECIAL STUDIES • PRAEGER SCIENTIFIC

New York • Westport, Connecticut • London

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
PART I DOMESTIC POLICY AND POLICY IMAGES
1 Militancy, Union Penetration, and Fiscal Stress: Are They Really Connected? Robert C. Rodgers and Jeffrey D. Straussman	23
2 Fiscal Stress and American Cities David R. Morgan and Robert E. England	46
3 Social-Welfare Policy and Privatization: Theory and Reality in Policymaking James C. Musselwhite, Jr. and Lester M. Salamon	65
PART II DOMESTIC POLICY AND INSTITUTIONAL REACTIONS
4 Changes in White: Health-Delivery Options in a Time of High Cost Myrna R. Pickard	91
5 Changers and the Changed: Affirmative Action and Local Governments Patricia A. Huckle	111
6 Economic Differentiation, Growth Centers, and the Failure of National Economic Policy Lyke Thompson	128
7 Urban Policy and Telecommunications Systems Mitchell L. Moss	150
PART III POLICY CHANGE AND THE ORACLES
8 Urban Policy Research and the Changing Fiscal Focus of the State: Sociology's Ambiguous Legacy and Uncertain Future Scott Cummings	167

9	Economics and Urban Policy Analysis Jeffrey I. Chapman, Gary J. Reid, and Donald R. Winkler	201
10	Equity and Efficiency in Urban-Service Delivery: A Consumption and Participation Costs Approach Robert Warren	218
	INDEX	253
	ABOUT THE EDITOR AND CONTRIBUTORS	263