

KOR

A History of the Workers' Defense
Committee in Poland, 1976–1981

JAN JÓZEF LIPSKI

Translated by Olga Amsterdamska
and
Gene M. Moore

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PRESS

Berkeley • Los Angeles • London

Contents

Introduction 1

1. The Prehistory of the Workers' Defense Committee (KOR) 9

The Club of the Crooked Circle (9); Dissident Writers and Scholars (11); "Commandos": The Club of the Seekers of Contradictions (12); "Commandos": Walterites (14); Kołakowski's Lecture-1966 and the March Events-1968 (15); Protests Against the Intervention in Czechoslovakia (17); Scouts from "Black Troop No. 1" (17); Young People from the Warsaw Club of Catholic Intelligentsia (18); Academic Ministry Circles in Gdańsk and Lublin (19); The Milieu of "Ruch" (20); The "Tatra Mountaineers" (20); Protests Against the Unification of Student Organizations (21); Minigroups (22); Intelligentsia, Workers, and Peasants (22); The Defense of Persecuted Students (23); The Protest Against Amending the Constitution (23); Lipiński's Letter to Gierek (29).

2. The "June Events" of 1976 30

Price Increases (30); The Police Action in Radom (34); Strikes and Demonstrations in Radom (33); The Deaths of Jan Brożyna and Rev. Roman Kotlarz (36); How Many Died in Radom on June 25, 1976? (37); Ursus, June 25, 1976 (38); Demonstrations and the Strike Movement in June 1976 Outside of Radom and Ursus (39); Approximate Data About the Extent of Repressions (41); KOR as a Result of Repressions Against the Workers (42).

3. The Founding of the Workers' Defense Committee 43

The Crystallization of the Idea of KOR (43); The First Protest Documents After June 25, 1976 (45); July 17—The Beginning of Real KOR Activity (46); The Work of the Ursus Team Begins (48); Work on the Formation of the Committee (49); The Founders of the Committee (51); Later Members of KOR (56); Membership and Association with KOR (58); Informing Polish Society and the World (60).

4. The Ethos of the Workers' Defense Committee 62
5. From the Founding of KOR to the Death of Pyjas
(June 1976–May 1977) 79
- The Actions in Ursus and Radom (79); Legal and Medical Aid (81); The Achievements of KOR Before the Actual Formation of the Committee (83); The Struggle with the Security Service for Openness of Court Proceedings (84); "Unknown Perpetrators": Radom, Fall and Winter 1976 (85); In the Courts (87); The Trial for the Murder of Jan Brożyna (95); The Fall and Winter Counteractions of KOR Following the June Events (98); The Letter from Ursus Workers to Gierek (99); The Workers of Radom and Ursus Complain to the Prosecutor's Office (101); The Letters to Form a Diet Commission (104); The Act of "Clemency" and the Intensification of Reprisals (106); The Uncensored Press (109); Funds (113); The Movement in Defense of Human and Civil Rights (116); The Price of Activism (124).
6. From the Death of Pyjas to the Transformation of KOR into Committee of Social Self-Defense "KOR" (KSS "KOR")
(May 1977–September 1977) 142
- The Death of Staszek Pyjas (142); The Death of Pyjas: An Accident or a Provocation? (147); The Demonstrations Following the Death of Pyjas (150); Detentions and Arrests in Warsaw and the Campaign of Slanders (154); Society in Defense of KOR (155); Public Opinion Abroad in Defense of KOR (159); The Fast in the Church of St. Martin (161); The Work of KOR After the Many Arrests (165); The Amnesty (169); New KOR Institutions (171); Changes in KOR Membership (175); The Student Solidarity Committees (175); The Independent Publishing House and the Publishing Movement (178); The First Signs of the Birth of a New Peasant Movement (183); The Front of the Struggle for Freedom of Religion (183); The Repressions from May to September 1977 (184); The Workers after the Amnesty (186); A Summary of the First Year of KOR's Work (188).
7. From the Transformation of KOR to the Founding of the Initiating Committees of Free Trade Unions
(September 1977 to March/April 1978) 194
- The Reasons for the Transformation of KOR (194); The Apolitical and Political Character of KOR and of KSS "KOR" (196); Organizational Preparations for the Transformation of KOR (197); New Members of KSS "KOR" (200); The Transformation of the Workers' Defense Committee into the Social Self-Defense Committee "KOR" (198); The Declaration of the Democratic Movement and the Founding of Głos (201); The Student Movement (203); The "Flying University" and the Society for Scientific Courses (208); The Black Book of Censorship (212); The Documents of Lawlessness (218); From the Work of the Intervention Bureau (222); The KOR Press and NOWa (continued) (226); The Anniversary of the Massacre on the Coast (231); Initiatives Accompanying KOR (232); Repressions from September 1977 to April 1978 (234).

8.

From the Founding of the Initiating Committees of Free Trade Unions to the Polish Pilgrimage of Pope John Paul II (April 1978–June 1979) 240

The Independent Workers' Movement (240); Strikes and Work Stoppages (247); The Defense of Świtoń (249); The Appeal to Society (254); Peasant Committees (255); Thugs Against Education (265); The Student Movement and the Struggle for the Autonomy of the Universities (273); The Sixtieth Anniversary of Independence (277); For Your Freedom and Ours (278); The Intervention Bureau—New Attempts to Abuse Psychiatry (286); Other Cases of the Intervention Bureau (288); The Report on the State of Hospital Care and the Pharmaceutical Crisis (293); The Press and Uncensored Publications (300); Repressions Against KSS "KOR" and Associated Groups (305); The Financial Report of the Social Self-Defense Fund for the Period September 1977–September 1978 (316); Changes in the Membership of KSS "KOR" (319); The Movement in Defense of Civil and Human Rights (321); The Seminar "Experience and Future" (324); The General Situation in Poland in the Spring of 1979 and KOR's Search for a Program (325).

9.

From the Visit of Pope John Paul II to the Signing of the Gdańsk Agreements (June 1979–August 1980) 331

The Polish Pilgrimage of John Paul II (331); The Charter of Workers' Rights (339); The Initiating Committees of Free Trade Unions and the Workers' Commissions (340); Patriotic and Religious Demonstrations (345); Strikes Between June 1979 and June 1980 (342); Demonstrations on the Anniversary of the Events of December 1970 (354); Disagreements in KOR over Its Communique and Relations with the Second Internationale (359); Changes in the Membership of KSS "KOR" and Its Commissions (363); Repressions Against KOR and the Opposition (364); For Your Freedom and Ours (385); The Fast in the Church of the Holy Cross in Warsaw (387); The Elections to the Diet (392); The Press and Publications (395); The Church and Social Movements of Polish Catholics as Presented in the KOR Press (398); The Student Movement (399); The Peasant Movement and the Problem of the Villages (403); The Society for Scientific Courses (406); Self-Declared Catholic Movements and Groups (408); The Seminar "Experience and Future" (412); The Fast in Podkowa Leśna (413); The Period of the July and August Strikes in 1980 (417); KOR in July and August 1980 (423).

10.

From the Gdańsk Agreements to the Dissolution of KOR
(September 1980–September 1981) 430

KOR and Solidarity (432); The Press and Other Independent Initiatives (447); The Events in Otwock (448); The Dissolution of KOR (452).

Postscript 455

Postscript to the American Edition 458

Appendixes 465

Notes 511

Index 528