

INTERNATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL COOPERATION

Politics and Diplomacy in Pacific Asia

Leihgabe
der Senckenbergischen Naturforschenden Gesellschaft

Edited by Paul G. Harris

UNIVERSITY PRESS OF COLORADO

Universitätsbibliothek
Frankfurt a.M.

List of Illustrations	vii
Contributors	ix
List of Acronyms and Abbreviations	xi
1 Introduction: International Environmental Cooperation in Pacific Asia	1
—Paul G. Harris
PART I: Issues, Themes, and Actors in International Environmental Cooperation
2 Environmental Security in East Asia: Defining a Common Agenda	31
—Lorraine Elliott
3 Environmental Security, International Cooperation, and U.S. Foreign Policy Toward Northeast Asia	53
—Paul G. Harris
4 Reconciling Trade and Environment in East Asia	83
—Jack N. Barkenbus
5 The Asian Development Bank and Environmental Diplomacy: Limits to the Technocratic Consensus	105
—Morten Bøås
6 Environmental Agreements in Southeast Asia: Balancing Economic Interests and Regional Politics	133
—Giok Ling Ooi, Simon S.C. Tay, and Yue Choong Kog
7 Emerging Norms of International Justice: Global Warming and China's Changing Environment	147
—Donald A. Brown

PART II: Regime Building, Interstate Cooperation, and Environmental Diplomacy
8 Ecological Interdependence and Environmental Governance in Northeast Asia: Politics Versus Cooperation —Sangmin Nam	167
9 Building Environmental Regimes in Northeast Asia: Progress, Limitations, and Policy Options —Shin-wha Lee	203
10 Problems of Environmental Cooperation in Northeast Asia: The Case of Acid Rain —Wakana Takahashi	221
11 Toward a Greener Peace? Nuclear Reprocessing, Security, and International Cooperation in East Asia —Stephanie Tai, Andrew B. Loewenstein, Todd Bissett, and Eric O'Malley	249
12 Politics of the South China Sea: Diplomacy, Cooperation, and Environmental Regimes —Tom Næss	269
13 Indonesian Forest Fires: Internationalizing a National Environmental Problem —Allen L. Springer	291
About the Editor	317
Index	319