

ALBERT DE JONG

Mission and Politics in Eastern Africa

Dutch Missionaries and
African Nationalism in Kenya,
Tanzania and Malawi
1945-1965

PAULINES PUBLICATIONS AFRICA

Contents

Abbreviations	9
Foreword	11
Preface	12

CHAPTER ONE INTRODUCTION

African Nationalism	15
Dutch Priest-Missionaries	20
Dutch Missionaries and African Nationalism	20
Political and Anthropological Concepts Acquired in Mission Education in the Seminary	21
Dutch Missionary Priests, Brothers, Sisters and Lay People in Eastern Africa	29
Oral Sources	35
Oral History and the Audio Tapes of the KMM Collection	35
Critical Review of the Sources	38
Written Sources	41
The Written Sources in the Archives of KMM and the Missionary Institutes	42
Periodicals of Missionary Institutes	44

CHAPTER TWO THE VIOLENT ROAD TO INDEPENDENCE IN KENYA

Geographical, Historical and Missionary Setting	48
Welfare Organisations, KAU and Dutch Missionaries 1921-1951	53

The Kikuyu Central Association	53
The Kenya African Union	54
Dutch Missionaries	56
The Mau Mau Revolt 1952-1956	60
Missionary Church and Mau Mau	62
Bishops	63
Missionaries, Other than the Dutch	66
Catholics	72
Missionary Church and Colonial Government	77
Christian Oath	78
Process of Rehabilitation	79
The Home Guard	80
Independent Schools	82
Dutch Missionaries and Mau Mau	86
Analysis of the Sources	87
The View of Dutch Missionaries on the Uprising	97
On the Way to Uhuru 1957-1963	103
The Victory of Nationalist Politics	103
Missionary Church and Nationalist Parties	104
Dutch Missionaries, Nationalist Parties and Independence	106
Conclusion	112

CHAPTER THREE

THE CONSTITUTIONAL ROAD TO INDEPENDENCE IN TANZANIA

Geographic, Historical, and Missionary Setting	116
Mission and the Rise of Nationalism 1929-1953	122
The Tanganyika African Association	122
The Catholic African Association	123
The Pastoral Letter of the Bishops in 1953	125
Mission, Nationalist Politicians and Parties 1954-1958	129
Julius Nyerere and TANU	129
The Mission and Nyerere	131
Patrick Kunambi, TANU and UTP	138
The Dutch Spiritans and Kunambi	140

The Role of Dutch Missionaries in the Relationship between the Missionary Church and Nationalist Politics	142
The Basic Political Principle and the Context in Which It Developed	142
Mission and TANU	145
TANU versus UTP: the 1958 Elections	155
Kiongozi and TANU	160
Kiongozi : the National Catholic Newspaper of Tanzania	161
Kiongozi : the Politically Engaged National Newspaper Based on Catholic Principles	164
Conflict with the Hierarchy	170
Kiongozi and the Nationalistic Newspapers	178
Kiongozi and TANU after Independence	183
Towards Nationalist Victory 1958-1961	185
A Blueprint for Church-State Relations	185
Dutch Missionaries and Uhuru	190
Independence Celebrations	194
Catholic Africans and Nationalistic Politics	196
Conclusion	201

CHAPTER FOUR
THE RADICAL ROAD TO INDEPENDENCE IN MALAWI

Geographical, Historical, and Missionary Setting	206
From Protectorate to Federation: Missionary Church and Growing African Political Awareness 1915-1955	211
The Chilembwe Revolt of 1915	212
Native Associations 1915-1943	233
Nyasaland African Congress and the Federation 1944-1955	237
The Challenge of Nationalism: the Missionary Church and Banda 1956-1960	244
The Confrontation between Nationalistic Movement and Colonial Government	245
The Attitude of the Catholic Mission regarding Nationalistic Politics	247
The Christian Democratic Party: Missionary Church and Formation of a Religious Party	268

The Socio-ecclesiastical Vision of Mgr-Theunissen: a Catholic 'Column' as Model for Emancipation	268
The Christian Democratic Party	273
The Response of the Malawi Congress Party	278
The CDP, a Wedge Driven into the Missionary Church: Reaction of Bishops, Missionaries, African Priests and Lay People .	287
The Downfall of the CDP	295
Dutch Ethnocentrism in the Context of African Nationalism: Montfortians and the CDP	305
Ufulu: the Mission Church and the Nationalistic Victory 1961-1964	308
Catholic Mission and Nationalistic Government	308
Education	310
Rethinking of Missionary Method	311
A Free and Independent Malawi	313
Catholic Africans and Nationalistic Politics	314
Conclusion	319

CHAPTER FIVE CONCLUDING REFLECTIONS

Concluding Reflections	321
Appendix	328
Bibliography	335