

THE PAPAL MONARCHY

The Western Church from 1050 to 1250

COLIN MORRIS

CLARENDON PRESS · OXFORD

1989

CONTENTS

Abbreviations	xv
References to Canon Law	xvii
Introduction	I
PART I. THE PAPAL REFORM MOVEMENT AND THE CONFLICT WITH THE EMPIRE (c. 1046–1122)
1. Christian Society in the Middle of the Eleventh Century	11
i. Introduction	11
ii. The Pattern of Divine Government	14
iii. The Church and the Lay Powers	21
iv. The Beginnings of a Reform Ideology	28
2. The Pattern of Social Change	34
i. The Extension of Economic Activity: the Countryside	34
ii. The Extension of Economic Activity: the Cities	39
iii. The Expansion of Education	45
iv. The Aristocracy	50
v. The Dissemination of Ideas	53
3. Monastic Growth and Change	57
i. The Expansion of the Monasteries	57
ii. The Golden Age of Cluny	64
iii. Hermits	68
iv. Canons	74
4. The Papal Reform (1046–1073)	79
i. Introduction	79
ii. The Beginnings of Papal Reform (1046–1057)	82
iii. The Reformers Come of Age (1057–1073)	89
iv. The Principles of Papal Reform	98
v. The Reform of the Clergy	101
5. The Discord of Empire and Papacy (1073–1099)	109
i. Gregory VII	109

ii. The Breach with the Empire	113
iii. The Revival of the Gregorian Papacy (1085–1099)	121
iv. The War of Ideas (1076–1099)	126
6. Greeks and Saracens	134
i. The Situation in the Mediterranean World	134
ii. The Conquest of Sicily and Apulia	139
iii. The Rise of Christian Militarism	143
iv. The First Crusade	147
7. The Conflict Renewed: the Question of Investiture (1099–1122)	154
i. Paschal II (1099–1118)	154
ii. The Concordat of Worms	162
iii. Papal Administration	164
iv. The Achievement of the Papal Reform Movement	169
PART II. THE GROWTH OF CHRISTENDOM (1122–1198)
8. The Roman Church and the Empire in the Twelfth Century	182
i. After the Concordat of Worms (1122–1153)	182
ii. Frederick I and the Renewal of the Empire	188
iii. The Alexandrine Schism (1159–1177)	192
iv. The Papacy under Pressure (1177–1198)	197
9. The Government of the Church in the Twelfth Century	205
i. Concepts of Papal Authority	205
ii. The Exercise of Papal Power	210
iii. The Pastorate of the Bishops	219
iv. Churches and Kingdoms	226
10. The New Monastic Orders	237
i. From Hermitage to Monastery	237
ii. The New Orders	240
iii. Controversy and Criticism	250
iv. The New Orders in Twelfth-century Society	258
11. The Christian Frontier	263
i. The Theory of Mission	263
ii. Scandinavia	268
iii. Eastern Europe	271
iv. The Defence of the Holy Sepulchre	277

12.	The Message of the Churches	287
	i. Towards a Christian Society	287
	ii. The Great Churches	290
	iii. The Local Churches	294
	iv. Learning through Worship	297
	v. Preaching	305
	vi. Ceremonial and Society	310
13.	Christianity and Social Ideas	316
	i. The Basis of Christian Social Action	316
	ii. Provision for the Poor	320
	iii. Marriage	327
	iv. Commercial Morality: the Question of Interest and Usury	332
	v. Chivalry	335
14.	Dissent	339
	i. The Beginnings of Heresy (1050-1140)	339
	ii. Cathars and Waldensians (1140-1200)	344
	iii. Sorcery	350
	iv. The Jews	354
15.	The Formulation of the Faith	358
	i. The Growth of Theology	358
	ii. The Science of Theology	360
	iii. The Theology of Humanism	366
	iv. Sin and Redemption	371
	v. The World to Come	378
16.	Property, Privilege, and Law	387
	i. Ownership and Distribution	388
	ii. Tithes	389
	iii. The Structure of Ecclesiastical Property	392
	iv. Clerical Privilege	397
	v. The Growth of Canon Law	400
	vi. The Critics	404

PART III. THE THIRTEENTH CENTURY

17.	The Pontificate of Innocent III (1198-1216)	417
	i. The New Pope	418
	ii. The Papal State, Sicily, and the Empire	420
	iii. Innocent and the Lay Power	426
	iv. Reform	433

v. The Christian East	438
vi. The Struggle with Heresy	442
vii. The Fourth Lateran Council	447
18. Friars, Beguines, and the Action against Heresy	452
i. The Growth of the Friars	452
ii. Religion for Women: the Rise of the Beguines	462
iii. The Repression of Heresy	470
19. Proclaiming the Faith	478
i. Crusade and Mission	478
ii. The Pastoral Revolution	489
iii. Popular Religion	496
20. Reason and Hope in a Changing World	505
i. A New Pattern of Learning: the Universities	505
ii. Theology: from Pastoral Care to Speculation	511
iii. Joachim of Fiore: a New Eschatology	518
iv. The Influence of Joachim	522
21. The Structure of Government	527
i. The Bishops	527
ii. Parishes	536
iii. Monasteries and Cathedrals	541
22. The Roman Church and the Lay Power in the Thirteenth Century	550
i. Papacy, Kingdoms, and City States	550
ii. Frederick II	559
iii. The Papal Monarchy in the Thirteenth Century	568
Conclusions	579
Bibliography	583
Index	657