

Researching Violence in Africa

Ethical and Methodological Challenges

Edited by

Christopher Cramer, Laura Hammond
and Johan Pottier

BRILL

LEIDEN • BOSTON
2011

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	vii
Navigating the Terrain of Methods and Ethics in Conflict Research	1
Johan Pottier, Laura Hammond and Christopher Cramer
Researching Conflict in Africa: A Researcher's Account of Ife-Modakeke, South-Western Nigeria	23
Olajide O. Akanji
Researching Children and Violence in Evolving Socio-Political Contexts	39
Giorgia Doná
Four Layers of Silence: Counterinsurgency in Northeastern Ethiopia	61
Laura Hammond
Uncertain Ethics: Researching Civil War in Sudan	79
Sharon E. Hutchinson
'From Nation to Family': Researching Gender and Sexuality	95
Danai Mupotsa
Cooperative Ethics as a New Model for Cultural Research on Peace and Security	111
Derek B. Miller and Ron Scollon
Hidden Agendas in Conflict Research: Informants' Interests and Research Objectivity in the Niger Delta	137
Ukoha Ukiwo

Silence and authoritative speech in post-violence northern
 Ghana 155
Martijn Wienia

List of Contributors 175

Index 179