

Universitätsbibliothek
Frankfurt a.M.

The Struggle over State Power in Zimbabwe

Law and Politics since 1950

GEORGE HAMANDISHE KAREKWAIVANANE

University of Edinburgh

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

List of Figures	page viii
List of Tables	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
List of Abbreviations	xiii
Introduction	1
1 Laying Down the Law: A Historical Background, 1890–1950	24
2 Customising Justice and Constructing Subjects: State, ‘Customary Law’ and Chiefs’ Courts, 1950–1980	47
3 Legislating Against Dissent: Law, Race and Politics, 1950–1964	81
4 Legality without Legitimacy: Law and Politics during UDI, 1965–1980	111
5 Intermediaries, Intellectuals and Translators: African Lawyers and the Struggles in the Legal Arena, 1950–1980	139
6 Law and Transformation: Remaking the Legal System in Post-colonial Zimbabwe, 1980–1990	162
7 Continuity and Consolidation: Law and Politics in Zimbabwe, 1980–1990	184
8 ‘The Past as Prologue’: Law and the Zimbabwean Political Crisis, 1997–2008	215
Conclusion	241
Bibliography	249
Index	265